NIGHT EDITION SUPERIOR COURT

ACCUSED MAN

To Go on Witness Stand and Tell His Own Story

Decision of Counsel Made Known When Trial Was Resumed Today—Medical Evidence Closed the Case for the Prosecution

LONDON, Oct. 20.—It was decided today to place Dr. Hawley Crippen on the witness stand and let him tell his own story of the disappearance of his wife, Belle Elmore, this actress, with whose murder he is charged. There had been much speculation as to whether Crippen would testify for himself, and the decision of his counsel was not made known until just before the resumption of the trial this morning, when Arthur Newton announced to the press that this course had been determined when from the standpoint of the defendants in the case.

Drs. Marshall and Spilsbury, medical experts, who examined the human parts unearthed in the cellar of the Crippen home in Hilldrop Crescent, repeated their evidence given in the lower court. This was in confirmation of the testimony given yesterday by Prof. Pepper, the pathologist, who swore that the members were human, that he could not determine anatomically the sex of the victim. The cross-examination of the experts, in which Lord Chief Justice Alverstone, who is presiding, joined, centered on the alleged scar on the body, which the defense contents was only a fold in the skin.

Alfred A. Tobin, chief counsel for Crippen, sharply questioned Spilsbury and Marshall but they were not shaken from their assertion that the mark had been left from the wound of an operation.

Crippen, paler than at any time before, followed the evidence with strained interest.

Dr. William H. Wilcox, the scientific analyst to the home office, testified to having discovered in the body a poison which he was satisfied had been taken through the mouth and was the cause of death. This poison, he said, was not used by homeopaths as was suggested by the defense.

The medical evidence closed the case for the prosecution, and the stir in the courtroom as Mr. Tobin rose to address the court showed the keen interest with which the announcement of the line of defense was awaited. This interest was whetted by the first sentence of counsel, who confirmed his earlier statement to the press, that Crippen would enter the witness box immediately when his attorney had concluded his address.

Medical witnesses would follow, Mr. Tobin said, one of whom, who had the highest reputation as a microscopic expert would give conclusive reasons why the mark on the skin was not a scar.

Similarly an authority on poisons would testify that the alkaloid found in the body might easily be animal alkaloid developed after death.

The defense will attempt to prove that the body found in the cellar was not that of his wife. Mrs. Crippen had undergone a surgical operation. The prosecution claims to have found on a portion of the body a scar corresponding to the wound left on Mrs. Crippen's body by the surgeon's knife in this way they have sought to establish the identification. The defense maintains that it was not a scar but rather a fold in the skin.

Mr. Tobin contended that the prosecution's charge that a desire for money and the wish to marry Ethel Clara Leneve formed a motive for the murder was untenable. Crippen, he said, owed nothing and he had not married Miss Leneve since the disappearance of his wife, although he had had a chance to do so. No purchase of time was made known until just before the resumption of the trial this morning, when Arthur Newton announced to the press that this course had been determined when from the standpoint of the defendants in the case.

Drs. Marshall and Spilsbury, medical experts, who examined the human parts unearthed in the cellar of the Crippen home in Hilldrop Crescent, repeated their evidence given in the lower court. This was in confirmation of the testimony given yesterday by Prof. Pepper, the pathologist, who swore that the members were human, that he could not determine anatomically the sex of the victim. The cross-examination of the experts, in which Lord Chief Justice Alverstone, who is presiding, joined, centered on the alleged scar on the body, which the defense contents was only a fold in the skin.

Case of Paradis and Powers vs. Long Still on Trial

The Paradis-Powers vs. Long libel case was resumed at the opening of court this morning with Winfred C. MacBrayne on the witness stand.

Editor Marden Testifies

Before Mr. MacBrayne continued, however, Philip S. Marden, managing editor of the Courier-Citizen, was put on by the plaintiff and after answering preliminary questions, he was asked: "Did Mr. Paradis ever tell you of a conversation with Mayor Brown and his secretary relative to a certain offer?"

Mr. Harvey objected and a discussion by counsel ensued. The court admitted the question.

Mr. Marden answered: "Mr. Paradis told me either late in January or early in February."

"What did he tell you?"

"He told me that Mayor Brown had said to him that possibly a boxing or wrestling permit would be an inducement for him to be on the level with the mayor. He also told about an offer of a liquor license by Mr. MacBrayne to Mr. Powers."

Cross-examined Mr. Marden said that he made no comment on what Mr. Paradis had told him in his paper.

Mr. MacBrayne Resumes

Mr. MacBrayne then resumed his testimony.

"After the order barring them from the mayor's office, did you talk with Mr. Paradis and Mr. Powers?" asked Mr. Harvey.

"We had a conversation in the mayor's office the following morning. Mr. Paradis said: 'We came in to see if there is any news today.' The mayor replied negatively. Mr. Powers then said: 'Is it true that you have ordered us up?' The mayor said: 'Yes, but I have thought better of it this morning.'"

Mr. MacBrayne was asked if he could recall any typewritten news given by the mayor or himself to the plaintiffs.

The witness replied that he recalled several, one in particular, relative to the telephone, that some heads of departments had telephoned who didn't need them, while others had none and needed them.

Mr. MacBrayne also recalled a story about the municipal register which was given to the plaintiffs in typewritten form; and he also recalled a story on the tax rate. Mr. MacBrayne related the contents of the typewritten notes in detail.

Considerable discussion followed over the admission of an article published relative to the tax rate in which misrepresentation was charged.

The court stated that the article was not a misrepresentation. Neither the mayor nor the reporter knew what the tax rate would be and each expressed an opinion. His Honor illustrated by saying that the secretary might have told the reporter that the mayor expected to be elected next year. It was only his opinion and the reporter would not be misrepresenting him if he expressed a different opinion.

"How long did the police board hearing last?" asked Mr. Harvey.

"A month and a half."

"What was the occupation of the witnesses?"

Mr. Bent objected to the question but it was admitted and an exception saved.

Mr. MacBrayne said: "There were 10 or 12 hotel keepers, some former liquor dealers, five or eight reporters, and five or six who didn't have any occupation at all. All appeared in favor of the police commissioners."

Mr. MacBrayne Cross-Examined

"Were there any blackmailing experts there?" asked Mr. Bent.

"Yes there was one."

"Who was he?"

Mr. Harvey objected and the question was not pressed.

"Did General Jophanus Whitney, Arnold Scott, Charles J. Wier, James P. Ramsey, and ex-Mayor Neves testify for the police commissioners?"

"Yes."

Mr. MacBrayne was asked the occupation of these men and gave it.

"During these hearings you were correspondent for the Boston Herald?"

"I was."

"When did you sever your connection with the Boston Herald?"

"About a month after the board was restored."

"When did you cease to be private secretary?"

"When I was appointed police commissioner."

"When did you resign as police commissioner?"

"In August."

"During Mr. Brown's campaign he was opposed to the police board?"

"He was opposed to their methods?"

"Did you write his inaugural address?"

"At his dictation."

Mr. Bent took up the inaugural of the ex-mayor and wanted to read his reference to the police board. Mr. Harvey objected.

Mr. Bent stated that from the other side it could seem as if Mayor Brown were in the case instead of the defendant whose name has not been mentioned since the case started, and he wanted to reply to some of it. He explained that his reference would bear on the statement that a license was offered as he would show that at the time the offer was made the mayor intended to remove the commissioners before the first of May and appoint a new board which he could control.

Mr. Bent was permitted to read from the inaugural, after which a recess was declared.

"When did the investigation of the police board records begin?" asked Mr. Bent.

"The investigation of several departments, including the police department, began the first day he was in office."

"Who did the mayor appoint in place of the commissioners he removed?"

"He appointed Simon B. Harris, chairman, myself the second member, and John J. Burns."

"How did you sever your connection with the office?"

"Did you send a letter of resignation?"

"Mr. Harris did."

"Didn't you sign it?"

"I did."

"When it was your letter?"

"Yes, but he wrote it."

"Did you go to the newspapers with it?"

"Mr. Harris and I went to the newspapers with it."

The letter as printed in the papers was identified by Mr. MacBrayne.

Mr. Bent offered it in evidence.

Mr. Harvey objected, remarking: "Mr. MacBrayne is not on trial."

"You put Mayor Brown on trial here and I'm going to put MacBrayne on," retorted Mr. Bent.

The jury was excused while Messrs. Bent and Harvey argued on the admissibility of the letter of resignation.

The letter of resignation was ruled out and an exception saved the plaintiff.

Continuing the cross-examination Mr. Bent asked:

"Did the mayor ever tell you to take charge of the old board?"

"He did not."

"Do you know who wrote any of those articles in Mr. Long's paper?"

"I do not."

"Did you give them any information?"

"I did not."

"What did Mr. Powers say to you?"

"He said: 'Wrestling licenses don't appeal to me. How about a liquor license for me?'"

"What did Mr. Brown say to them?"

"He said he had been iniquitous in an article in both papers the day before."

"What did they say?"

"I think Mr. Paradis said laughingly: 'We have to obey orders.' Mr. Powers made some laughing remark to that effect."

"What did you think of that?"

"I thought they were fore-flushing."

"What do you mean as fore-flushing?"

"They gave that as an excuse to cover themselves up for misrepresenting the mayor."

"What was said about wrestling permits?"

Mr. Paradis said: "George, meaning the mayor, I'm with you on one thing. I hope you fire Moffatt; he's a crook and stopped me from holding wrestling matches. Then the mayor laughed and said jokingly: 'Perhaps it's because you were running fake matches.'"

"Then it was a delightful, joking meeting, everyone happy?" said Mr. Bent.

"Yes."

Mr. Brown Testifies

George H. Brown was the next witness and in response to Mr. Harvey's question said:

"Mr. Powers and Mr. Paradis came into my office one day and I called their attention to the fact that they were misrepresenting me in reports. I told them that they were quoting me directly opposite to what I said. I said: 'You are trying to make me out ridiculous and are trying to make me out an ignoramus.' Paradis said: 'There's one thing I'm with you on. I hope you fire Moffatt. I said that it was probably because he was running fake wrestling matches. Then Mr. Powers said: 'Wrestling licenses don't appeal to me; how about a liquor license? Mr. MacBrayne said smilingly: 'If you get a license you should get a third partner who will run the business while you are off on a bat together.'"

"After the hearing did you issue an order to exclude them from your office?"

"I did, immediately after that day's hearing."

"When did you see them again?"

"They came into my office and I told them that no man was safe while they were around."

Witness then explained his method of giving out news. The witness insisted on getting away from the direct answer until the court said: "Can't you answer the questions directly?"

The witness said that after the hearing he gave out all information typewritten.

Mr. Harvey attempted to produce police court records of certain hotel-keepers who testified in the police board hearing, but Mr. Bent objected on the ground that in all cases appeals had been taken and never tried.

The court allowed the records to go in. Mr. Brown upon hearing each record read said that he was the same man who testified in the case.

"How many witnesses were examined before you?"

"I couldn't tell."

"Have you had any talk with the plaintiffs relative to their hostility to you?"

"I have talked to Mr. Paradis."

"What did he say?"

"He always smiled."

Cross-examined:

"Who generally wrote your letters and communications?"

"Mr. MacBrayne."

"Always from dictation?"

"Generally."

"You never gave out any original manuscripts to the newspapers?"

"No."

Edward W. Trull

Assistant Clerk Trull of the police court went on the stand with a number of records of convictions which he identified. The records were those of the hotelkeepers convicted in the police court but whose cases were all appealed. Some of the records went back to 1899 and others were in 1907 and 1908.

Mr. Bent asked the witness if all the men were not hotelkeepers.

"I can't say officially."

"Can't you say as a witness?"

"No; I don't know some of them."

The names were then read off to Mr. Trull.

"With the exception of one of them, all went by appeal to superior court?"

"Yes."

"Do you know what became of them?"

"No, sir."

This closed the defendant's case.

Major Bent then read extracts from the defendant's paper relative to the two plaintiffs.

Noon recess.

DIED SUDDENLY

Man Was Victim of Heart Disease

Edward F. Deane died suddenly this noon at his home, 75 Fourth avenue, from heart disease.

He came from his work this morning apparently in good health and in a very short time he was taken with a fainting spell. Physicians were called and did all that medical skill would permit, but to no avail.

The deceased leaves besides his wife to mourn his loss three sons, Daniel F., Edward T. and Henry J., and one daughter, Mrs. Michael Larkin. He is also survived by seven brothers and one sister.

THE WATER FAMINE

Was Broken by the Heavy Driving Rain

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A heavy driving rain which broke the water famine in Westchester county, where thousands have been scant of water supply for weeks, was New York's portion of the West Indian storm which made itself felt along the upper Atlantic seaboard today. There had been only one insignificant rain here in over one hundred days and woods and plains in the city's environs were parched powder dry, resulting in numerous forest fires.

The drenching downpour continued almost without cessation from midnight, checking the fires and filling the almost dried up streams which supply the reservoirs in Brooklyn and Westchester.

The weather bureau reported that from midnight until 8 o'clock 1.52 inches of rain fell.

LOSS IS $150,000

Factory at Danbury Was Destroyed

DANBURY, Conn., Oct. 20.—The factory of the American Hatters & Furriers Corporation in this city and that of the Connecticut Glue company, a subsidiary concern, were burned this morning, entailing a loss of about $150,000. About two-thirds of the loss is covered by insurance. The cause of the fire has not been determined. No one was injured, as the fire occurred before the hour for beginning work.

THE PLAYERS

WILL RECEIVE QUITE A SNUG SUM

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—A comfortable sum of money is assured for the world's baseball champions if the records of the first two games can be taken for any criterion of what is going to follow in the next two battles. Figures compiled last night from the official count, 61,488 for the games at Philadelphia, showing the teams' shares to be $39,153, give the winners of the series a split per man of $1022 and the losers each $631 on the receipts to date.

That these figures will be increased at least 50 per cent. in the coming contests is predicted by the officials, despite the fact that there will be many tickets sold for the West Side games bringing lower prices than those at Philadelphia.

SIX MEN KILLED DAIRY INSPECTION

By Explosion of a Boiler in
New York

Hearing to Discuss Law to Cover
System Held in This City

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A boiler explosion killed six firemen outright, fatally wounded two others, and threw 2000 women and girls and half as many more men into a panic today at the bagging and rope plant of the American Manufacturing company at Greenpoint, across the East river.

The explosion is a mystery. Without warning the big boiler in the two-story brick warehouse attached to the big plant blew up, hurling the eight men through the air to the street outside. The roar and the hiss of escaping steam caused those who were at work in the factory to become panic-stricken.

There was a rush for the doors and many of the weaker ones were trampled under foot. The building was shaken as another boiler blew up with earthquake violence. It was then that the police reserves and ambulances arrived. When picked up the bodies of the six firemen were terribly mutilated and it was with difficulty that they were identified. The other two firemen were rushed to a hospital in a dying condition.

The commission appointed to make an investigation of the system of dairy inspection and to frame a law which will be fair to both the producer and consumer, gave a hearing in Centralville Odd Fellows hall this afternoon.

The commission is composed of the three members of the state dairy board, Charles H. Gardner of Westfield, chairman; Howard A. Parsons of Amherst; and George W. Trail of Tewksbury; and Dr. Milton J. Rosenau of Brookline and George H. Ellis of Newton, the two latter having been appointed by the governor as a result of an act passed by the legislature.

The commission was appointed because of the conflict between the producers of milk and the consumers. The latter claim that the milk is not properly inspected while the producer claims that it is over-inspected and for that reason it was deemed advisable to appoint a commission to hold hearings in different cities and towns throughout the state and get the consensus of opinion and frame a bill to offer to the legislature.

The following is the resolution passed by the legislature:

Resolved:—To direct the dairy bureau to prepare and report a draft of a bill for the inspection of milk.

Resolved, that the dairy bureau of the state board of agriculture, together with two additional persons to be appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the council, is hereby authorized and directed to prepare a bill for the inspection of milk.

HE DENIES BRIBERY

Chief of Lawrence Fire Department on Witness Stand

ROSTON, Oct. 20.—Chief James A. Hamilton of the Lawrence fire department, now on trial before Judge Schofield in the superior criminal court at Salem, charged with bribery to secure his nomination to office, yesterday afternoon went on the stand as the first witness in his defense.

Chief Hamilton testified that he had been in the department for 15 years and had held office as chief since May 24 last. He had first met former Alderman Burns at city hall, and two or three days after the alderman had refused to confirm him as chief he told Burns the mayor had offered the appointment to him and asked him if he would vote for him, and told him that if he appointed he would give the drop forge works where Burns was foreman, as much work as he could. He acknowledged that he borrowed $400 from Sam Kress, but said that it was used to pay Koehesky money he owed him—between $340 and $350.

Witness was acquainted with Legendere and went and asked him to vote for him, and also asked Moisan to ask Legendere to vote for him. Moisan arranged an interview, and then Legendere said he would vote for him to get even with the mayor, who was not in earnest in nominating him. He denied that he gave either Burns or Legendere money either for themselves or to "fix" other aldermen. He had declined to appoint firemen for both Burns and Legendere.

Carl A. Woelkel, a former alderman, denied that Burns ever showed him any money or gave him any from Hamilton. He did not go to Burns' office and get the money the day after confirmation, as testified to by Burns and his son.

At the morning session Mrs. Rosina Burns, wife of ex-Alderman Burns, testified that she knew Hamilton, first meeting him after her husband was elected alderman. He came to see her husband, and about that time while wearing her husband's trousers, she found three small pay envelopes, but did not look to see what was in them. She asked her husband what they were and he took them. They were marked Moss, Woelkel and Legendere.

James W. Copperthwaite testified he worked for Mr. Burns from December, 1909, to January, 1910. Some time in December Hamilton came to the shop and went into the office with Burns. Copperthwaite heard Burns say, "I don't want money, Jim. Give me some work in the department and I will stick by you."

Samuel Kress of Lawrence, now serving a sentence for conspiracy to bribe, testified that he knew Alderman Burns at the time of the grand jury investigation and Hamilton about a year before that time. He remembered the appointment of the latter some time in May, having loaned Hamilton $400, receiving two notes for it of $200 each. He was present with him in a tool house on Gardner street, Lawrence, and saw three envelopes in his hand, into each of which he put $200, saying he was going to give them to Burns. They were marked Kress, Woelkel and Legendere. He told Kress to see Legendere and promise him anything to secure his vote.

Herman Kress, father of the last witness, said he remembered loaning his son $400 at the time of Hamilton's appointment, for which he got the two notes for $200, signed by Hamilton. The members of the firm of Bradley & Dooley were on the stand for the defense.

BIG STEAMSHIP

The Olympic Launched at Belfast Today

BELFAST, Ireland, Oct. 20.—The first of the two mammoth White Star liners, the Olympic, was launched successfully amid scenes of much enthusiasm today. In accordance with the custom of the White Star line there was a christening ceremony. The new vessel is of 45,000 tons. She has been building for twenty-two months and it will be some eight months longer before she is ready for her trial trip. The Olympic is a triple screw steamer, her principal dimensions being length, over all, 852½ feet; breadth, over all, 92½ feet; height from bottom of keel to top of captain's house 108½ feet. She exceeds by nearly 100 feet in length and 13,000 tons any other ship afloat and if stood on end would overtop the Metropolitan tower in New York by 182 feet. She is four times as long as Bunker Hill monument in height.

MAN IS ACCUSED

Of Having Caused the Death of Another

DEDHAM, Oct. 20.—Blows inflicted with steel knuckles by Fred Lovely with intent to kill or injure caused the death of Louis K. Simons in Boston on Sept. 26, according to the finding of Special Justice Whitaker of the Norfolk county district court. Both principals lived at Plainville and were returning home from Pawtucket on Sept. 25 when they are alleged to have quarreled over a raccoon. The following morning Simons was found badly beaten up and he died eleven days later at Boston of tetanus, induced by his injuries. Before he died he is alleged to have told his mother that he was attacked by Lovely. The latter has not been seen since the night of the quarrel.

LINEMEN KILLED MAN WAS KILLED

They Came In Contact He Was Struck by an Engine With a Live Wire

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Joseph Langley of Harrison avenue, Boston, and Adelbert Daly of Arlington, linemen employed by the New England Telephone & Telegraph company, both lost their lives in a tangle of heavily charged wires in Canton yesterday afternoon. Langley was killed in an attempt to rescue Daly.

While working at the top of a 40-foot pole, Daly was shocked and fell across a live wire. It is believed that he was instantly killed. Langley, seeing his comrade's plight, raised a ladder and ascended to his aid, but the moment he touched Daly's body he was knocked from the ladder by the force of the current and fell to the ground, breaking his neck. It was more than half an hour before word could be got to the telephone company in Boston, and the current shut off. Daly's body was taken down, horribly burned. Langley was 40 years old and single. Daly was 50 years old and leaves a widow and several children. The bodies were taken to the undertaking rooms of M. J. Dockray in Canton to await the arrival of relatives.

JOSEPH RENAUD

BITTEN BY A TARANTULA WHILE CARRYING BANANAS

WARE, Oct. 20.—Joseph Renaud, who is employed in a fruit store, was bitten on the neck by a tarantula yesterday at the Boston & Maine freight depot, while conveying bananas on his shoulders from a car to his wagon. Renaud says he felt something run across the back of his neck and at the same time felt a sharp sting. He dropped the bananas which he was carrying, and brushed the tarantula from his neck, where it struck the floor, and was killed later.

Dr. Louis E. Dionne took Renaud to his home on Walnut street. The place bitten had swollen to the size of an egg, and was intensely red. The swelling abated as the doctor worked.

TRICK ELEPHANT

Attacked and Killed New Keeper

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Queen, a trick elephant 12 years old, became enraged at an unaccustomed keeper who tried to shackle her in her winter quarters at Jersey City yesterday and crushed him to death. She seized him around the waist with her trunk, slammed him against the wall, threw him to the floor and then tramped on his face, kneeling on his body and finally gored him. The body was unrecognizable when recovered.

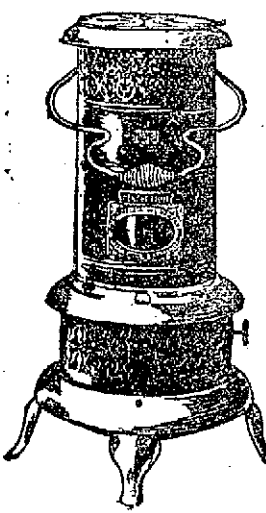

Robert Shields, the keeper, had been with the company owning Queen for 10 years, and called himself a trainer. He was warned that Queen had ugly moods and that he had better let her regular keeper handle her.

"Get some hay," was the answer, "and I'll chain her."

The animal was perfectly tractable to her trainer a few moments after the killing, and allowed herself to be shackled without making further trouble.

Nobody could be found last night who could give a reliable account of her record, whether she has killed other men or not.

Fresh Air in Winter

In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows it is hard again to heat the room properly. If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The

SMOKELESS
OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless solves the difficulty. You can leave the windows in a room open all day in winter, and when you close them apply a match to a Perfection Oil Heater and heat the room to any temperature you desire in a few minutes.

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly cleaned. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font.

The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

Bartlett & Dow, 216 Central Street

WORCESTER, Oct. 20.—Flung by the cowcatcher of one engine a distance of a hundred feet, in front of another, Thomas G. Beech, 46 years old, of 26 Malvern road, was killed on the Norwich division of the New Haven road here last night.

Beech was on his way home from work. He had just bade good-night to a fellow employee, William Pierce. "I've never been across the tracks, but it's shorter, and I guess I will take a chance," he called back, according to Pierce.

He was struck less than a minute after by the engine of an outward bound passenger train, moving at high speed, and tossed to the opposite track, a few feet in front of the cowcatcher of an onrushing freight train.

Beech was single and the sole support of a widowed mother.

STOLE HIS EYE
MAN WAS GIVEN SENTENCE OF THREE MONTHS

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—George McClusky, who lives in a Church street lodging house, ran up to a Patrolman McCarthy of the Lagrange street station yesterday morning, holding his hand over one eye, and said, "Find him quick. He stole my eye."

"What?" gasped the patrolman. "Stole your eye? Who did? How did he do it?"

"A man named Eddie Feeley. He rooms with me and I told him last night that my glass eye could be pawned for a dollar in any pawnshop. As it cost me $20. He stole it this morning out of a glass of water while I was asleep, and I want him pinched."

McClusky accompanied the patrolman to a Pleasant street pawn shop where he thought Feeley would go, and they caught him just as he was going into the establishment.

In the City Police court Feeley was given a three months' sentence in the house of correction, having stolen a number of other articles from the Church street house.

"Can you see any better?" asked the patrolman of McClusky as he was leaving the court room wearing his recovered glass.

"No, but I look better," answered McClusky.

BARNEY OLDFIELD
SUSPENDED BY AMERICAN AUTO-MOBILE ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The contest board of the American Automobile association issued a statement last night indefinitely suspending Barney Oldfield and his managers, Messrs. Pickens and Sloan, because Oldfield "committed a flagrant violation of the rules at a sanctioned meeting at Readville, Mass., on Oct. 14, by intruding himself upon the track in his Benz racing car and without official start or timing made several circles of the track, in defiance of the warning of officials."

Oldfield's manager, Pickens, issued this statement last night:

"Barney Oldfield will be driving automobiles in races in parts of America long after the American Automobile association will have lost control of racing. In other words, it is a war to the finish, and I believe the public wants to see Oldfield race and does not care what body sanctions the race."

It was announced here last night that Ty Cobb, the champion batsman of the Detroit Americans, had agreed to a match automobile race with Nap Rucker, the Brooklyn pitcher, as a feature of the Atlanta meet Nov. 3, 4 and 5.

CLAIMS THE TITLE

Billy Papke Says He is Champion

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—The death of Stanley Ketchel at Springfield, Mo., recently has precipitated the middle-weight championship situation into more or less of a muddle. Four claimants to the title stand out prominently, and of these three have faced the former champion in the ring. Former Champion Billy Papke of Kewanee, Ill., now in Australia; Frank Klaus of Pittsburg, Hugo Kelly of Chicago and Leo Houck of Lancaster, Pa., are now in line. Papke claims the distinction by the fact that he was one of the very few that ever beat Ketchel. Papke knocked him out in the 12th round of a bout in Los Angeles two years ago. This is the one decisive beating the late champion suffered in his career, although he was downed for the count in his battle with Jack Johnson at Colma, Cal., a year ago. One of these claimants for the championship probably will be eliminated when Klaus and Houck meet, as a bout is being planned between the two in either a Boston or Philadelphia ring.

HELD HARVEST SUPPER

A very successful harvest supper was held last night under the auspices of the Men's league of the Immanuel Baptist church. There were about 200 people present and the event proved to be an enjoyable one.

The supper was one of those old-fashioned New England offerings, and it was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

At the conclusion of the supper W. H. Dudley, the toastmaster, called to order and introduced various speakers. John Foote of Kansas spoke on "The Mission of the Church." He was followed by John Pauley, former president, Harry Murphy of Boston, Miss Jessie Dodge, Rev. Francis Rose, Thos. Blades, Jesse Tucke and Albert Pauley. The supper was served by the men of the league, assisted by Miss Margaret Wedge, Miss Etta Lyons, Miss Osborn, Mrs. Catherine Dudley and Mrs. Herbert Boss.

$3,000,000 HEIRESS FINDS SOUL MATE AFTER LONG SEARCH

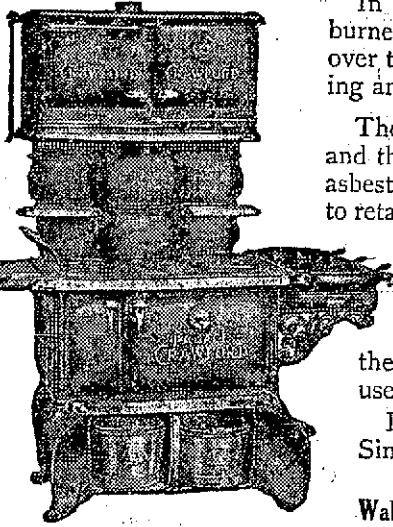

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Antoinette Gazzam, the Cornwall heiress and follower of matters psychic, has found her soul mate and was married to him in the quiet little rectory of St. Thomas' Catholic church, in Cornwall, by the Rev. Father John Brosnan. The bride is twenty-six years old, and in her own right she possesses at least $3,000,000 in her own right. The bridegroom is Charles H. Galvin, thirty-two years old, a civil engineer in the employ of the board of water supply of New York at a salary of $1200 per year. No title of fiction is stranger or more romantic than the search for and subsequent wooing by Miss Gazzam of her goul mate, now her husband. After sending out Pinkerton detectives to find this mate, whose description she had furnished them, and while they were still scouring the country to locate the man whom this description would fit, Miss Gazzam discovered Mr. Galvin in the very shadow of her Cornwall mansion, where he was surveying and straightaway began to woo him. The bride, through her devotion to matters pertaining to the spirit world, last fall became involved with Marshall Clark, a palmist. She followed his teachings, and his wife sued her for alienation of affections. Miss Gazzam settled the suit for $25,000.

Combination Coal and Gas Crawford Ranges

The Crawford Gas Ovens are safe. They are lighted in a new way; there is no dangerous pilot light and explosions are impossible. This improvement is patented and very important.

The Damper is automatically opened by opening oven door to light the burners, which cannot be lighted until the door is opened.

In these Gas Ovens there is an extra set of burners at the top for broiling; a great advantage over the ordinary gas oven, insuring better broiling and great convenience.

The Oven Bottoms and Racks are cast iron, and the outer walls are triple—an interlining of asbestos between two sheets of iron, which assists to retain the heat.

The use of these Gas Ovens does not interfere in any way with the operation of the coal range—both can be used at the same time.

Double Oven above or Single Oven at end of range.

TEXTILE SCHOOL

Defeated the Lawrence High Eleven

The Lowell Textile school football team defeated the Lawrence high by a score of 12 to 0 yesterday afternoon on the Textile campus. The game was good throughout and marked the first victory of the season for the local team.

The members of the Textile eleven showed great improvement over their playing in the previous games. The local team was much heavier than the visitors but the latter put up a good battle.

The lineup and summary:

BOXING GOSSIP

When it was announced Tuesday evening at the Army club that the attraction for next week's meeting would be a 12 round bout between Gardner and Frank Klaus, the fans applauded vigorously and a moment later when Jimmie who had just returned from Philadelphia stepped into the ring he was royally greeted. Since the last Gardner-Klaus bout the members have forgotten their sorrows over the event and are most desirous of seeing them go at it again under proper conditions. At the last bout it was evident from the moment that Jimmie entered the ring that he was in no condition to go with a husky fighter like Klaus. None is more anxious than Gardner himself to go in and show the public what he can do with Klaus and this time will find him in good condition.

Gardner's appearance Tuesday evening didn't agree with the stories of his bout with Houck sent from Philadelphia. He was apparently in perfect condition and was unmarked. Those who saw the bout state that Jimmie was never in any danger and that the worst that he could get was a dray. Gardner came to Lowell yesterday and started in at once to train under the direction of his brothers Morgan and Willie while Joe Thomas, who is residing in this city, will be his sparring partner. It will be a different Jimmie Gardner in the ring next Tuesday night unless all signs fail.

FRIGHTFUL FALL

Workman Fell Seven Stories Striking Through Plank Staging

A carpenter employed upon the top of the new Massachusetts mills cement storehouse, being constructed on Bridge street, fell over the side to a slaying seven stories below, about 3.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He struck upon a staging of two inch plank and went right through it to the ground, perhaps ten or 15 feet below.

The sound of the crash, when the man struck the staging, was heard quite a distance and attracted a great many people to the scene.

Nobody expected that he could escape instant death in such a frightful fall, but it seems that his fall was somewhat broken by striking the staging and this was the only thing that saved him from being instantly killed.

He was taken into the engine room, close by, and the ambulance was called. There was considerable doubt whether it was due to the parties called the ambulance was known to the man seemed lifeless when it into the ambulance and taken to Lowell hospital.

The ambulance doctor stated that far as he could see by a hasty examination the man was fatally injured. Inquiry from the boss in charge the street level brought out the that he was under instructions to give any information to the papers regarding any accidents as was therefore impossible to find name of the injured workman.

One of the workmen, however, stated that the man was employed as a painter and that his last name Noel.

It was subsequently found that man's name is Cyril Noel and that he resides at Forest street, Methuen.

DAY OF WEDDINGS

Many Lowell Couples United in Marriage Yesterday

Yesterday was a day of weddings in Lowell and the clergymen were kept busy performing the matrimonial ceremony.

McKENNA-SLATTERY

Mr. John A. McKenna of the Heinze Electric company and formerly secretary of the board of trade, and Miss Anne Slattery of Canton, were united in marriage yesterday at St. John's church, Canton.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. William A. Connor of St. Paul's church, Dorchester, a relative of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. John J. Carrell, pastor of St. John's church, Canton. The best man was Mr. James E. Donnelly, a cousin of the groom, and Miss Catherine Slattery, a sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. McKenna received many beautiful wedding gifts.

After a brief honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. McKenna will return to this city and will take up their residence in their new home in Holyrood avenue.

WHOLEY-McNAMEE

Mr. John Joseph Wholey of 96 White street, and Miss Mae Estelle McNamee, of 547 Stackpole street, were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the parochial residence of the Immaculate Conception church by Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O. M. I.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Isabelle McNamee and Mr. William Wholey, a brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white point d'esprit over white silk, with picture hat and carried white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid wore a pink silk, coronation pleated frock with picture hat to match and carried pink chrysanthemums.

Following the ceremony a very largely attended reception was held at the home of the bride in Stackpole street, where the friends and relatives of this popular couple were given an opportunity to offer their congratulations and to inspect the handsome array of wedding gifts. The ushers at the home were Mr. Matthew Wholey and Mr. Daniel Wholey, brothers of the bridegroom, and Mr. Frank Mahan, of Franklin, N. H. Miss Winnifred Chalow presided at the piano throughout the evening.

Among the numerous out-of-town guests were Rev. John A. Claggy of Abland, N. H., a cousin of the bride; Miss Isabelle Gono, Miss Leona McDonald and Mrs. Isabelle Thompson, all of Franklin, N. H.; Mr. Fred Quay of Laconia, N. H.; Miss Loretta Kelley and Miss Grace Sullivan of Lawrence; Miss Elizabeth Hennessey of Boston; Mr. Thomas Butler of Boston and others. Refreshments were served, and the home was beautifully decorated with autumn foliage, potted plants and greenery.

Mr. and Mrs. Wholey left on an early evening train for an extended wedding trip. After their return they will make their home at 247 Stackpole street. They will be at home to their friends after December 1st. No cards.

LIBBY-SMITH

A very pretty wedding took place last night at six o'clock when Oliver Carleton Libby, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Libby of this city, was united in marriage to Miss Alice Howard Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Smith of Chelmsford. The ceremony took place at the Unitarian church in Chelmsford and was performed by Rev. L. L. Greene, pastor of the church.

The bride was gowned in beautiful point lace with pearl trimmings, and wore a veil caught up with pearls; she carried a shower bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley. The matron of honor wore a white marquisette over blue, with silver trimming and embroidery, and carried white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids wore hand embroidered white marquisette over pink satin and carried pink chrysanthemums.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in High street. Receiving with the bride and bridegroom were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Libby, together with the matron of honor and the bridesmaids. Mrs. Smith was beautifully gowned in shades of roses satin, draped with chiffon with bead trimmings. Mrs. Libby wore a charming costume of heliotrope messaline with gold trimmings.

The rooms were decorated with a profusion of palms and chrysanthemums, laurel and autumn foliage. Throughout the reception the Adams orchestra gave selections and a dainty luncheon was served in the dining room.

The bride's gifts to her matron of honor and bridesmaids were brooches, and the gifts of the bridegroom to his best man and ushers were scarfpins.

Mr. and Mrs. Libby were the recipients of many beautiful and costly gifts from their many friends.

They left after the reception for Boston by automobile, and after the

FAGAN-DILLON

Mr. James Fagan and Miss Agnes Dillon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dillon, were united in marriage yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the parochial residence of St. Peter's church, Rev. D. J. Keleher, pastor of the church, officiating.

The bride was attired in a gown of white silk tulle and wore a white beaver picture hat. She carried bride roses. The bridesmaid, Miss May Dillon, a sister of the bride, wore white tulle and a picture hat, and carried white chrysanthemums. The best man was Mr. William H. Fagan, a brother of the bridegroom. The flower girl was Miss Catherine Higgins, a niece of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, 63 B street. W. H. Mooney, who had played the Lohengrin bridal music when the couple left the home for the church, played the Mendelssohn wedding march when the bridal party returned. After the serving of the dinner there were a number of musical selections given. Songs were contributed by John Devlin, Francis H. Fagan, Thomas Smith, John Fagan and Miss Agnes Manning; the Manning sisters, of Lawrence, gave readings, and Miss Julia Dillon gave several piano numbers. Present at the reception were many friends from Boston, Lawrence and Worcester. Mr. and Mrs. Fagan received many beautiful gifts. They left for a honeymoon trip during the early evening, and before returning to this city, will visit New York, Washington, Buffalo and Albany. After November 15, they will be at home to friends at 12 Ames street.

ELLIOTT-CRAVEN

Mr. Robert Henry Elliott and Miss Gertrude Annie Craven were married last night at 6:30 o'clock at the bride's home, 218 Stevens street, by Rev. A. J. Dunne, pastor of the Highland Congregational church, and the bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Allan B. Craven. Miss Eva Craven was maid of honor, and Mr. John C. Leggett was best man. There were two ribbon bearers, Misses Margaret and Esther Elliott, and Miss Edith Norwington of Worcester, pianist, played the wedding music. The ushers were Messrs. Maurice Elliott, Clifford Elliott and Allan B. Craven.

Guests were present from New York, Tremont, Buffalo, Somerville, Westford, Granville and Worcester, besides the many personal friends of the bride and bridegroom in Lowell. The young people received many beautiful gifts, including several liberal checks, and a number of beautiful antique rugs. They will live in Stevens street.

BURNS-MORRIS

Mr. John F. Burns, an overseer of a carpet mill in Freehold, N. J., but formerly of Lowell, and Miss Mary F. Morris, were united in marriage at the parochial residence of St. Peter's church, yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. George Mullin.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Patrick Morris, 101 Lawrence street, at which were present many friends. The bride wore a dress of white duchesse satin, with train. She carried lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid Miss Margaret Morris, a sister of the bride, wore white silk and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The best man was Mr. Leo Morris, a brother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Burns received many beautiful presents. They left this city by automobile during the afternoon, showered with rice and confetti. Following a honeymoon in Canada, they will go to Freehold, N. J., where they will reside on Burne avenue.

ROBERT-DEWAR

Miss Jessie Walker Dewar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Dewar, was married to Henry Edward Robert of Roslindale at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents, 29 Fairview street, Roslindale.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Dewar, as bridesmaid, and two little flower girls, Miss Alice Ripley of North Chelmsford, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Ruth Lang of Roslindale. The best man was Arnold A. Roberts, Jr., brother of the groom. The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Alcott Phinney, D. D., minister of Bethany Methodist church, Roslindale.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held. The ushers were Duncan Dewar, brother of the bride, and Fred L. Johnson of Roslindale. Mr. and Mrs. Robert will reside at 15 Ashfield street, Roslindale.

McFADYEN-ERDIS

Mr. Angus McFadyen and Miss Catherine Erdis were united in marriage by Rev. S. A. Jackson, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church, at his home. The ceremony was performed at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The best man was Mr. James McFadyen, a brother of the bridegroom, and the bridesmaid was Miss Letitia Erdis, a sister of the bride. The bride wore white tulle and carried white chrysanthemums, and the bridesmaid wore white muslin and carried pink chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. McFadyen left on their honeymoon during the evening. They will live at 139 Church street.

YOUNG-SHANAHAN

At the parochial residence of St. Patrick's church last evening, Mr. James Young and Miss Jennie T. Shanahan were united in marriage by the pastor, Rev. William O'Brien. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Shanahan, and Mr. Joseph Malone was best man. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, 183 Broadway, and later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Young left on a wedding trip. They received numerous wedding gifts.

WHITE-CONANT

Mr. Clayton E. White and Miss Nina Hello Conant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Conant, were united in marriage last evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 10 Grove street. Miss Conant was prettily attired in blue messaline and carried a bouquet. The officiating clergyman was Rev. J. P. West, pastor of the Highland M. E. church, and only the family and intimate date relatives were present. They were unattended. The house was tastefully decorated with potted plants and greenery. After a wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. White will live at 11 Manning street. They will be at home after Dec. 1.

ASQUITH-DEAN

In the presence of many friends Mr. Sam Asquith, of the Lowell Co-operative company and Miss Ethel Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Dean, of 66 Queen street, were united in marriage in the Gorham Street Methodist church last evening.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the church, shortly after 7 o'clock. The bridal party entered the church to the music of the Lohengrin bridal chorus, played on the organ by Mr. Albert Asquith, a brother of the bridegroom. The bride was given in marriage by her father, the singing service being used. Following the ceremony the Mendelssohn wedding march was played as the party left the church.

The bride was very prettily dressed in white lingerie tulle, trimmed with Irish lace, and carried white carnations. She was attended by Miss Jennie Sutcliffe, who wore white lingerie tulle and also carried white carnations. The best man was Mr. Leonard Asquith, of Fitchburg, a nephew of the bridegroom.

KINCH-COX

A very pretty fall wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at St. John's parochial residence, North Chelmsford, at 4 o'clock, when Miss Loretta H. Kinch and Mr. Benjamin F. Cox were united in the bonds of matrimony by the pastor, Rev. F. Schofield. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Mary V. Cox, and the groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Michael O'Hearn, of Lowell. After the ceremony, a reception was held at the

THE VOTING LIST

Shows a Total Registration of
14,892 Voters

In the state election 14,892 citizens will be entitled to vote for registration at city hall closed last night with that number on the voting list. The number this year is about 30 less than last year.

The registration for the state election by wards is: Ward 1, 1567; ward 2, 1446; ward 3, 1955; ward 4, 1440; ward 5, 1326; ward 6, 1738; ward 7, 1810; ward 8, 1817; ward 9, 1805; total 14,892.

There have been just 807 new voters registered during this entire fall for the primaries and state election, distributed as follows:

Ward 1, precinct 1, 43; precinct 2, 28; precinct 3, 16; total, 87.
Ward 2, precinct 1, 53; precinct 2, 26; precinct 3, 45; total, 124.
Ward 3, precinct 1, 39; precinct 2, 30; precinct 3, 16; total, 85.

A BOLD STEP

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broad-cast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines.

Thus Dr. Pierce has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits and placed them in a class all by themselves by making them remedies of KNOWN COMPOSITION. By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, overworked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

HELD A MEETING

LAW AND ORDER LEAGUE PLANS A CAMPAIGN

The Law and Order league to the number of 25 met at the Kirk street church last evening to discuss the fall campaign. It was announced that work on the campaign has already begun though the nature of the work was not given out.

Robert Magwood of Boston, secretary of the No-Licenses league, and Rev. F. W. Lockwood, also of Boston, assistant superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, were the principal speakers. Both outlined the work of their respective leagues and how it was carried on, suggesting new methods for the Lowell organization.

JAMES J. HILL

Is Still Active at 70 Years

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 20.—James J. Hill of St. Paul, celebrated his 72d birthday anniversary a few days ago and the newspapers gave the dispatch sent out from this city a heading which read "James J. Hill, 72 Years Old."

The head writer would have been much nearer correct had he written "James J. Hill, 72 Years Young."

If there is another man in the United States who has passed the allotted time of three score years and ten, and having done as much work in his lifetime as James J. Hill, "empires builder of the Northwest," still retains as keen an intellect and can yet do as much important work in a day, St. Paul would like to know who he is.

John D. Rockefeller doesn't begin to do the work that Mr. Hill does. The oil king has shifted much of his burden to the shoulders of others. He finds time to play golf and ride around in an automobile. Who ever heard of James J. Hill playing golf or any other game for that matter? As for automobiles Mr. Hill rides in them when it is necessary but he is like his friend, Col. Roosevelt, he likes a good horse and would rather sit behind a fine team than be hauled around in the best automobile that ever was built. The "Father of the Northwest" however, owns several autos.

Mr. Hill's son, Louis W. Hill, on the other hand is what might be called an "automobile fiend." The machine hasn't yet been made that can run too fast for the younger Hill. It is true that as president of the Great Northern railroad Mr. Louis W. Hill, relieved his father of much work, but in the office of president of the board, James J. Hill finds enough to do to keep him busy every day. His hand is still on the helm and nothing escapes his notice.

Evidence of Mr. Hill's keenness of mind was amply given in the address he delivered before the National Conservation congress last month in St. Paul. Some of the epigrams contained in that address will be quoted in years to come.

Then came Mr. Hill's blunt reply to the speech of Francis J. Heney. Mr. Hill, without mincing words, applied to Mr. Heney "the shorter and uglier" term when he denied that the Great Northern railroad ever had received a cent of aid from the government. Mr. Hill has much to be proud of in his great achievements but if there is anything in his record that he is prouder of than that he built his great railroad without help from the government and that he never drew salary as a railroad official, nobody knows what it is. Consequently when Mr. Heney in his attack on railroads, land grants and such things, before the conservation congress connected James J. Hill's name with the Northern Pacific railroad, which did have government aid in the building, he made a mistake that was so serious and so touched Mr. Hill that he departed from his usual custom of paying no attention to such attacks, and came back with a reply to which, so far as anyone in the railroad offices in this city knows, Mr. Henry has not seen fit to reply.

Mr. Hill has great faith in St. Paul. To him the Minnesota capital is the real "gateway to the northwest," which he has done so much to develop. His really holdings in this city are enormous. He loves its climate and often has said the healthfulness of St. Paul's air and water has done as much as any other thing to sustain him in his work. In winter he rides to his office in an open carriage. Mr. Hill says he never found a day in St. Paul too cold for him to get around. He never finds it necessary to go south to spend a winter. There is a mistaken idea about winter in St. Paul. The air is dry and the cold has not the penetrating effect of damper air in cities further south. Consequently when the thermometer registers below zero in St. Paul the people in this city really do not notice the cold as much as do those in other cities where the temperature is the same.

AIRSHIP WRECKED

Moissant Had a Narrow Escape

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The headlessness of a moment came near being the death yesterday of John B. Moissant, the American aviator who first flew with a passenger across the channel from Paris to London, while he was trying out his new Bleriot monoplane at Belmont park.

Moissant had just made two brilliant turns of the mile and a quarter track when he took his spill. A puff of wind struck the tail of his monoplane and swung it to one side. The aviator quickly righted himself and then, in over-confidence, lifted his feet from the rudder to tinker with the oil feed to his motor.

Instantly the monoplane swooped sideways like a bird winged by the fowler, dived 125 feet to the ground, struck on its right wing and turned completely over. Nobody who saw the fall thought for a moment that Moissant would ever be taken out of the wreck alive; but as it happened, the uninjured left wing broke his fall and he slid easily from his seat. The machine was wrecked beyond repair.

AN ENTERTAINMENT FOLLOWED HARVEST SUPPER AT THE ELIOT CHURCH

A harvest supper, followed by an entertainment, was held last night at the Eliot church. There was a large attendance, the supper was appetizing and the entertainment an excellent one. The affair was in charge of Mrs. John B. Graham and Miss Marjorie Erdis.

The supper was served by Mrs. Charles S. Proctor, Mrs. V. H. Melster and Mrs. Garfield Davis and a corps of assistants.

The entertainment program consisted of a series of tableaux interspersed with musical numbers by Mrs. F. L. Roberts, vocalist. The tableaux were as follows: "Dutch Cleaner," Margaret Woodworth; "Sweetheart of the Corn," Miss Ethel; "Grape Juice," Ethel Enos; "Seven Ages of Woman," Gracia Dexter; "Carle's Bachelors," Ruby Hill, Harriet Kew, Mrs. Higelow, Mrs. Popkner, Garfield Davis; "Seven Ages of Man," Mr. Oliver Sykes, with young boys and the paraphernalia of boyhood and young manhood, including football. A Dutch song was given by Misses May Erdis, Margaret Woodworth, Ruby Hill, Ethel Enos and Harriet Kew, and Mrs. J. E. Graham.

DAIRY INSPECTION

pare and transmit to the general court in print, on or before the second Wednesday in January, nineteen hundred and eleven, a draft of a bill to provide for the inspection of milk at the point of production and during subsequent transportation and holding until the delivery to the consumer, and the inspection and examination of cows and of the premises on which they are kept. The bill shall contain such amendments to existing laws as will remove any conflicting provisions and unnecessary duplication of inspection.

and the bill shall also contain provisions which will provide for such a thorough and complete inspection of milk as will ensure its cleanliness, purity and fitness for food. The hearing was scheduled for one o'clock but it was after 1:30 o'clock before it was called to order. Dr. Rosenau was absent and when Chairman Gardner called to order there were about 25 persons, including two women, present. Among those present were Dr. G. Forrest Martin, chairman of the board of health; Agent Fred A. Bates of the same board; Milk Inspector Melvin Master and Fisher H. Pearson of this city; and Delacy Corkum of Billerica. After Chairman Gardner had read the resolution and explained the purpose of the hearing Fisher H. Pearson arose and stated that he appeared for himself as a consumer and a student of the milk problem for ten years. He said he was given to understand that the commission was not to consider the standard of the milk. He felt that there should be no chemical standard but instead there should be a standard of purity and wholesomeness.

Mr. Pearson said that milk was nothing more or less than a by-product, especially in this city, where the most of the milk delivered is produced by farmers with few cows. He said the same rules for inspection could not be applied to the small producer as to the big producer. The speaker advocated two qualities of milk, one for medical use and the other for ordinary use. The former quality is to be of a very high standard while the other could be lower. He also said that the state board of health should inspect the milk. He added that some legislation should be passed which would force the state board of health and national department of agriculture to co-operate, intimating that there is now or at least was friction between the two bodies.

In conclusion Mr. Pearson advised the commission in drawing up the bill to be presented to the legislature not to prosecute the small producer or it will mean his ruin. He advised giving the small producer a reasonable show. Leonard W. Wheeler, of Westford, was the next speaker. He said that he was a producer and sold his milk to D. Whiting & Sons, of Boston. He described his farm, etc., and said he objected to the inspection of milk and premises as at the present time, claiming that the inspector calls at his place when he is absent and does not think it fair.

He spoke of the score card system and said that there is a laxity in the marking. "Nothing," he stated, "he had received three different markings while the condition of affairs had not changed and when he interviewed the inspector relative to the fluctuation the inspector said, 'Oh, that doesn't amount to anything.'"

He said he uses town water, which is considered the best water in the state, and just because he has a well on the premises which he does not use especially for cleaning the milk utensils, the inspector took a sample of the well water and but for the fact that he caught the inspector doing so he might have lost his business.

Mr. Wheeler said that those who want certified milk should create a market for it, but that the general public is more interested in cheap milk. He caused quite a stir when he said that the people want cheap milk and that they should have a chance to get it.

He cited instances which indicated that there is antagonism among the producer, consumer and inspector and felt that instead there should be harmony.

INSTANT DEATH

Harry Bedell, an Electrician, Electrocuted

CLAREMONT, N. H., Oct. 20.—Accidentally completing an electric circuit with his hands, Harry Bedell, an electrician, received a current of 2300 volts through the body and was instantly killed here today. Bedell, who was employed by the Claremont Power Co., was working on a transformer at a local machine shop. Fred Maxwell, who attempted to remove the body, was shocked into unconsciousness but was later resuscitated. Bedell was 25 years old. He is survived by a bride of four months.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Irving Bennett and Miss Ethel M. Dresser were married Monday afternoon by Rev. A. St. John Chamber at his residence. Mrs. Ralph H. Moody was matron of honor and Mr. Ralph H. Moody was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will be at home after Dec. 1st at No. 31 Greendale avenue, Lowell.

SURPRISE PARTY

The many friends of Miss Anne O'Loughran, a popular employee of Cook, Taylor & Co.'s store in Merrimack street, gathered Tuesday evening to bid her farewell, as she sails for Ireland in two weeks. She was greatly surprised when presented with a gold watch, a gift from her sister, Mrs. Michael Fagan. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Michael Fagan. A pleasant evening was spent during which light refreshments were served, and all departed at a late hour, wishing Miss O'Loughran a pleasant journey. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Michael Fagan, Elm street.

BARSTOW Bay State Ranges

You will find them to be dependable ranges, which always bake uniformly; you will find in them features no other ranges possess.

The End Gas oven is especially useful. It has the baking compartment and in the upper part of it is located the broiler attachment. This places the broiling rack at a convenient height to avoid stooping. Above the oven is the 3-burner Gas End Shelf for broiling, toasting and frying. These attachments can all be used at the same time as the coal fire, thus doubling the capacity of your range. The High Gas Oven can also be used on this style.

New Swing Air Top.—Makes entire surface of fire available for broiling or toasting. Also enables an oven and easy distribution of coal or the use of large chunks of wood. No other range has this feature.

Simplicity Damper.—Works with a touch—almost automatic. Cannot be burned out or affected by heat.

Adapted to one style of frame. Grate and frame freely drawn out through the fire door opening for cleaning or renewing.

Patented Extension Ten Shelves.—Found only on our ranges—give ample space for large dishes.

An Aluminum Plated Oven Rack.—Adjustable at two heights. A simple hook device keeps this rack in right position when pulled all the way out.

A Model Heat Indicator.—Of scientific construction and a Twenty-Century Simulating Cover sent free with each range.

JUSTICE WHITE

May be Made Head of United States Supreme Court

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Among the he has not given up the idea of appointing for chief justice of the United States supreme court whom President Taft is considering is Associate Justice Douglas White, who was appointed from Louisiana and is a democrat. White is known as one of the most progressive of supreme court justices.

While the president is considering both Justice White and Senator Root, the latter is also being considered for the position of chief justice.

None of the supreme court appointments will be made until congress meets in December.

CAPITOL FAVORS WHITE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—During the next two or three weeks the president will give attention to filling the important judicial vacancies now existing.

The gossip about Justice White, one of the two democratic members of the supreme court, for chief justice is regarded here as having some foundation.

In the minds of many lawyers, Justice White has been regarded for a number of years as the ablest man on that bench. The president thinks very highly of him. Justice White was the president's guest last summer on the Mayflower from Beverly to Provincetown, where the president delivered an address at the dedication of the monument to the pilgrims.

Justice White has been on the bench at Washington for more than 16 years, having been appointed from Louisiana by President Grover Cleveland. At the time of his elevation to the highest court he was United States senator from his native state, having entered the senate in 1891.

Justice White was born in Lafourche, La., on Nov. 3, 1845, and was educated at St. Mary's, near Emmitsburg, Md., the Jesuit college at New Orleans and also at Georgetown. He is a veteran of the confederate army.

The law had its attraction for him and in 1863 he was admitted to the Louisiana bar, became a state senator in 1874, and an associate justice of the supreme court of Louisiana in 1878.

ANNUAL REUNION

REV. LAWRENCE F. TIGHE, O. M. L.
Pastor

THOMAS WELCH,

Of the Immaculate Conception Parish a Great Success

One of the most successful events ever conducted by the Immaculate Conception parish was the annual reunion held in Associate Hall last evening. The hall was crowded to the doors, every seat was occupied and in the gallery and on the main floor hundreds were obliged to stand. Early in the evening the people of the parish began to arrive and when Rev. Fr. Tighe, O. M. L., the pastor, and Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. L., the general manager, reached the hall, it was already nearly filled. About every family in the parish was represented and many came from other parishes to all in the reception to Fr. Tighe. The greeting the pastor received was a genuine tribute of love and loyalty, and must have made him hold in higher esteem and regard, the people of his native parish. At the conclusion of the reunion Fr. Tighe took occasion to express his gratitude and thanks to the people of the parish for their generous response to the invitation to attend the reunion. He did not speak from the platform but made it a point to meet and greet about everyone in the audience and give personal expression to his feelings. As stated in yesterday's paper the afternoon was given over to the children and the returns showed that the number of children in attendance was 200 in excess of the number gathered at any similar occasion in the past. And none among this great audience of children enjoyed himself or herself more than the pastor who remained with the little ones throughout the entire afternoon.

The Evening Program

The evening program was a most entertaining one. The hall was very prettily decorated, autumn foliage and leaves being very prominent in this feature. Around the hall tables and booths were arranged where ice cream, cake, tonics and soda water were served and candles disposed of. The table at the different tables was very bristly and quite a neat sum of money was taken in by the bustling attendants. John Payne who had charge of the entertainment was quite prompt in opening the program. While the orchestra played a lively march, Rev. Fr. Tighe accompanied by Rev. Fr. Sullivan, McQuaid and Fox of the Immaculate Conception church proceeded to their seats in the front row while the people on the floor and gallery applauded loudly. Later the provincial of the Oblates, Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. L., accompanied by Rev. John P. Flynn, Rev. Fr. McKenna, superior at the Tewksbury Novitiate, Rev. Fr. McDermott and Rev. Fr. Cornell took seats reserved for them. The entertainment was provided by artists from the local theatres and was greatly enjoyed by the large audience.

Ray W. Snow, "The Man About Town," monologist, provided good fun, and he was followed by the Three Russell Brothers, singing and dancing comedians. Harry Dale, programmed as a "Singing Monologist," was well received, and Muriel Crompton, a variety dancer, pleased immensely. Bobby Jewett and Rastus Brown and Miss Harrison concluded the program.

General dancing was started about 9:30 o'clock and was continued to the midnight hour.

The officers of the affair were:

General committee: Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O. M. L., general manager; James F. Gilligan, secretary; Patrick H. Farrell, treasurer.

Dance officers: John C. Farrington, floor director; Thomas Welch, assistant; John McCaffrey, chief aid; William Harrington, James Cahill, John Rodgers, Thomas J. McCann, Walter V. # HILL IS DEAD CHILD MAY DIE

Former Democratic Leader Passed Away This Morning

DAVID B. HILL

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 20.—David B. Hill, ex-United States senator and former governor of New York, died suddenly at Wolfert's Roost, his country home, at 3:45 o'clock this morning.

About two weeks ago Mr. Hill was seized with a bilious attack while at his law office in this city and although his condition was not considered serious at the time his physician advised him to remain at home for a few days until he recovered. A cold developed and a few days later alarming reports of his condition were circulated. These reports, however, were denied by friends, in fact the senator appeared to be on the road to recovery until last night, when he suffered a sinking spell which resulted in his death.

David Bennett Hill was born in the village of Havana, Schuyler (then Chemung) county, New York, Aug. 29, 1843. His father, Caleb Hill, was a carpenter. David, who was the youngest of three sons, attended public school and at the age of 17 entered the law office of Col. John L. Lawrence of Havana. In 1863 he went to Elmira and was admitted to the bar the following year. He soon became recognized as one of the leading lawyers of the southern tier. His first ballot was cast as a democrat. He rose rapidly in politics, being chosen city attorney of Elmira, then alderman and then mayor. He was elected to the state assembly in 1870 and re-elected the following year. At democratic state and national conventions Mr. Hill for many years was a leading figure. In 1876 and 1884 he was a delegate to the national conventions which nominated Tilden and Cleveland respectively. In 1882 he was nominated for lieutenant governor on the same ticket with Grover Cleveland. The ticket was elected.

Following Governor Cleveland's election to the presidency of the United States Mr. Hill became governor, subsequently being elected for two terms. He was governor for seven years. In 1891 Mr. Hill was elected United States senator to serve from March 4, 1891, to March 4, 1897. In 1894 Mr. Hill was once more a candidate of the democratic party for governor, but was defeated by Levi P. Morton, his republican opponent.

Mr. Hill was the candidate of the New York democrats for the nomination for president in 1892, when Grover Cleveland was nominated for that office.

As a lawyer Mr. Hill handled many important cases. In 1904 Mr. Hill was credited with being the political supporter of Alton B. Parker, who was nominated for the presidency by the democratic national convention at Chicago and who was defeated by Theodore Roosevelt. Following that election Mr. Hill announced his permanent retirement from politics and since that time he has devoted himself solely to the practice of his profession. Mr. Hill lived quietly at Wolfert's Roost, a beautiful villa just outside the city.

Little One In Critical Condition

Manus Youthabage, the child who was severely burned at 27 Winter street yesterday morning, is in a very critical condition at the Lowell hospital, and very little hope is entertained for her recovery.

A FINE PAINTING Of David Rogers Received By Mayor

An oil painting of David Rogers, who served as a member of the city council in 1856-57 and which was presented to the city by his daughter, Mrs. Mary F. Robertson, of Dorchester, was received yesterday and this morning was hung in the mayor's reception room.

The painting is an excellent one and is in an oval frame. It has been placed on the wall between the portraits of ex-Mayor Eliza Huntington and ex-Mayor James H. B. Ayer.

Mr. Rogers was well known to a number of years was associated with his father in conducting a stable in Central street where the stable of E. D. Conant & Co. is now located.

The following letter relative to the painting was received by Mayor McEneaney yesterday:

44 Magnolia Street, Dorchester, Mass.
Hon. John F. McEneaney,
Mayor of the City of Lowell,
My Dear Sir:

The portrait of my father, Mr. David Rogers, will be sent to you by express Tuesday, Oct. 18th. The delay in sending was occasioned by the engagement and illness of the artist who has been putting it in order. I hope it will arrive safely. With kind regards,

Most Sincerely,
Mrs. Mary F. Robertson.
October 16, 1910.

'LAST TRIBUTE

PAID BY TOWNSPEOPLE TO MEM-ORY OF JULIA WARD HOWE

MIDDLETOWN, R. I., Oct. 20.—A little group of the townspeople stood with bowed heads on the platform of the Middletown railroad station today to pay their last act of homage and respect to Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, the poet and philanthropist, whose death occurred here on Monday. Today the body of the aged writer, enclosed in a snow white casket, was taken from the Howe summer home and placed in a special funeral car attached to the regular train leaving at 9:10 for Boston, where the funeral is to be held this afternoon at the church of the Disciples.

The funeral party included only the immediate members of Mrs. Howe's family, a few servants, the eight publishers and Rev. William Safford Jones, pastor of the Channing Memorial Unitarian church of Newport, where Mrs. Howe was a frequent attendant.

PRESENTED PURSE OF MONEY
Mr. Hector Monette, a popular member of the Centralville Social club, was surprised last night by the members of the club, the occasion being on account of his approaching marriage.

President Rosario Lussier, on behalf of the club, presented Mr. Monette a substantial purse of money. Mr. Monette thanked his fellow members in a manner which showed that he appreciated the present, after which a program, including musical and literary numbers, was carried out.

EX-PRES. ECKERT DEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Thomas T. Eckert, former president of the Western Union Telegraph company, died today at West End Lane, Branch, after an illness of some duration.

He was born at St. Clairsville, O., April 23, 1825.

IN POLICE COURT

Several Cases Disposed of by Judge Hadley

Judge Hadley this morning had many cases of domestic troubles before him, and in each case he administered friendly advice and allowed the defendants to go on probation. He also allowed a number of first offenders to go their way, with the promise that they would do better in the future.

Charles Dyson was charged with assault and battery upon Ernest J. Smith. He pleaded not guilty and his case upon his own request, with the sanction of the government, was continued until Oct. 27.

Thomas Graham has been before the court several times, and as this was his second offence within a year the court decided that he should pay a fine of six dollars.

Joseph Stanley appeared before the court upon a third complaint of drunkenness and upon the testimony of the arresting officers he was adjudged guilty and sentenced to three months in jail.

Arthur Levasseur and Albert F. Nealey were each given two months in the Lowell jail for repeated complaints of drunkenness.

Louis P. LeClair was charged with drunkenness and non-support of his wife and children, and upon the request of the government the case was continued until tomorrow morning.

Two Chicago Pitchers Batted Out Of the Box

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—A light rain early this morning accompanied by a sharp drop in the temperature presaged uncomfortable conditions for the third game of the world's championship series between the Chicago Nationals and the Philadelphia Americans this afternoon.

As no more rain was in sight, however, it was regarded as certain that the game would be played. The diamond, covered by canvas, did not suffer from the wet but the outfield was slippery.

The weather depressed the spectators. The leaden skies, the mist and chill winds were no incentive to pay three or four prices for tickets. A thin, shivering line of undaunted enthusiasts was lined up at the grounds when day broke, waiting for the ticket windows to open. Fifteen thousand tickets were available to the crowd. It was regarded as certain that Ed. Rubeck would pitch for Chicago but Connie Mack said he would not select his man until he had gone on the field and seen the players in practice. The general belief was that Mack's choice would lie between Coombs and Plank.

Noon found the grandstand and pavilion seats filled and the bleachers nearly full. Coffee in small buckets was consumed in numbers. Reporters who complained of the press arrangements at Philadelphia found ten tiers of seats with desks contained in front of the main grandstand behind the home plate.

The Chicago players came on the field for batting practice nearly two hours in advance of the game. Owing to the cold, Manager Chance of the Cubs said he might not send in Rubeck to pitch, as had been his intention; but finally allowed him to pitch the game.

The batting order:

Philadelphia
Strunk, cf.
Lord, lf.
Collins, 2b.
Baker, 3b.
Davis, 1b.
Murphy, rf.
Elliott, ss.
Thomas, c.
Coombs, p.

First Inning
Philadelphia—Strunk was given his base on balls. He went to second on Lord's sacrifice bunt, who went out. Rubeck to Chance. Strunk took Collins' Texas leaguer. Strunk scored on Baker's single to center. Baker out, stealing. Kling to Tinker. One run.

Chicago—Sheppard walked. Schulte doubled to center field over the crowd. Sheppard going to third. The ground rules allow only two bases on a hit into the overflow crowd. Sheppard scored on Hoffman's sacrifice fly to Strunk. Schulte taking third. Chance struck out. Zimmerman's high fly fell into Strunk's hands. One run.

Second Inning
Philadelphia—Davis was passed on four pitched balls. Murphy grounded out. Steinfield to Chance. Davis reaching second on the play. Barry doubled into left field crowd, scoring Davis. Thomas' liner was captured by Schulte, Barry being held at second. Barry scored when Coombs hit for two bases into the rightfield crowd. Chance and Rubeck conferred. Kling joining. Play resumed. Strunk went out. Zimmerman to Chance. Two runs.

Chicago—Steinfeldt popped to Barry. Tinker doubled down right field foul line. Kling went out. Baker to Davis. Tinker taking third. Beaumont batted for Rubeck. Beaumont walked. Sheppard was issued a free pass, filling the bases. Tinker and Beaumont scored when Schulte hit for two bases to left. Hoffman struck out. Two runs.

Third Inning
Philadelphia—McIntyre went in to pitch for Chicago. Sheppard made a running catch of Lord's long fly. Fine rain began falling, but the game was not interrupted. Steinfieldt was barely able to check Collins' sharp hit, which was a safe one. Collins scored when Schulte let Baker's single pass him. Baker took third on the error. Davis was hit by a pitched ball and went to first. Murphy knocked a homerun over the screen into the right field bleachers. Baker and Davis scoring ahead of him. Chicago's entire infield gathered to insist that under ground rules Murphy's hit should merely have been a double. The protest availed them nothing. Chance was ordered off the field for continuing his protest. Archer taking his place at first. Pfeister replaced McIntyre on the slab. Barry knocked the first ball pitched into the centerfield crowd for two bases. Barry scored when Thomas hit to Tinker and the latter threw badly to Archer. Thomas was doubled at second on Coombs' hit to Zimmerman. Zimmerman to Tinker. Archer. Five runs.

Chicago—Archer, Baker to Davis. Lord captured Zimmerman's fly. Steinfieldt struck out. No runs.

Fourth Inning

The Paradis-Powers vs. Long libel case was resumed at the opening of court this morning with Winfred C. MacBrayne on the witness stand.

Editor Marden Testifies
Before Mr. MacBrayne continued, however, Philip S. Marden, managing editor of the Courier-Citizen, was put on by the plaintiff and after answering preliminary questions, he was asked:

"Did Mr. Paradis ever tell you of a conversation with Mayor Brown and his secretary relative to a certain offer?"

Mr. Harvey objected and a discussion by counsel ensued. The court admitted the question. "Mr. Paradis told me either late in January or early in February."

"What did he tell you?"

"He told me that Mayor Brown had said to him that possibly a boxing or wrestling permit would be an incentive for him to be on the level with the mayor. He also told about an offer of a liquor license by Mr. MacBrayne to Mr. Powers."

Cross-examined Mr. Marden said that he made no comment on what Mr. Paradis had told him in his paper.

Mr. MacBrayne Resumes
Mr. MacBrayne then resumed his testimony.

"After the order barring them from the mayor's office, did you talk with Mr. Paradis and Mr. Powers?" asked Mr. Harvey.

"We had a conversation in the mayor's office the following morning," Mr. Paradis said. "We came in to see if there is any news today. The mayor replied negatively. Mr. Powers then said: 'Is it true that you have ordered us out?' The mayor said: 'Yes, but I have thought better of it this morning.'"

Mr. MacBrayne was asked if he could recall any typewritten news given by the mayor or himself to the plaintiffs.

The witness replied that he recalled several, one in particular, relative to free telephones, that some heads of departments had telephones who didn't need them, while others had none and needed them.

Mr. MacBrayne also recalled a story about the municipal register which was given to the plaintiffs in typewritten form; and he also recalled a story on the tax rate. Mr. MacBrayne related the contents of the typewritten notes in detail.

Considerable discussion followed over the admission of an article published relative to the tax rate in which misrepresentation was charged.

The court stated that the article was not a misrepresentation. Neither the mayor nor the reporter knew what the tax rate would be and each expressed an opinion. His Honor illustrated by saying that the secretary might have told the reporter that the mayor expected to be elected next year. It was only his opinion and the reporter would not be misrepresenting him if he expressed a different opinion.

"How long did the police board hearing last?" asked Mr. Harvey.

"A month and a half."

"What was the occupation of the witnesses?"

Mr. Paradis objected to the question but it was admitted and an exception saved.

Mr. MacBrayne said: "There were 10 or 12 hotel keepers, some former liquor dealers, five or eight reporters, and five or six who didn't have any occupation at all. All appeared in favor of the police commissioners."

Mr. MacBrayne Cross-Examined
"Were there any blacklisting experts there?" asked Mr. Bent.

"Yes there was one."

"Who was he?"

Mr. Harvey objected and the question was not pressed.

"Did General Josephus Whitney, Arnold Scott, Charles J. Wier, James P. Ramsey, and ex-Mayor Keyes testify for the police commissioners?"

"Yes."

Mr. MacBrayne was asked the occupation of these men and gave it.

began the first day he was in office."

"Who did the mayor appoint in place of the commissioners he removed?"

"He appointed Simon B. Harris, chairman, myself the second member, and John J. Burns."

"How did you sever your connection with the office?"

"I resigned."

"Did you send a letter of resignation?"

"Mr. Harris did."

"Didn't you sign it?"

"I did."

"Then it was your letter?"

"Yes, but he wrote it."

"Did you go to the newspapers with it?"

"Mr. Harris and I went to the newspapers with it."

The letter as printed in the papers was identical by Mr. MacBrayne.

Mr. Bent offered it in evidence.

Mr. Harvey objected, remarking: "Mr. MacBrayne is not on trial."

"You put Mayor Brown on trial here and I'm going to put MacBrayne on," retorted Mr. Bent.

The jury was excused while Messrs. Bent and Harvey argued on the admissibility of the letter of resignation.

The letter of resignation was ruled out and an exception saved the plaintiff.

Continuing the cross-examination Mr. Bent asked:

"Did the mayor ever tell you to take charge of the old board?"

"He did not."

"Do you know who wrote any of those articles in Mr. Long's paper?"

"I do not."

"Did you give them any information?"

"I did not."

"Did Mr. Powers say to you?"

into the mayor's office on the day following the order to eject him and the conversation testified to by Witness Brown never took place.

In regard to the testimony that Mr. MacBrayne told them if they got a license it would be necessary to have a third man, Mr. Paradis stated positively that no such remarks were made. He stated that he never said that he had to obey orders when asked why he misrepresented the mayor. He denied that the mayor accused him of running fake wrestling matches.

Mr. Paradis stated that he never made an allegation in any document given him by the mayor or MacBrayne. In newspaper offices all such copy goes to the editor without alteration.

Mr. Powers took the stand again and denied that the conversation testified to by the mayor ever took place. He further denied that the conversation relative to putting the license in another man's name ever took place.

Mr. Powers also stated that he gave all copy given him by anyone to the editor.

THE ARGUMENTS
The arguments opened at 2.15 o'clock.

Mr. Harvey spoke for the defense and dwelt at considerable length upon the importance of the interview in the mayor's office, stating that if it is found that the plaintiffs magnified and distorted the incident the criticism of them in the defendant's paper was not libellous.

Mr. Harvey argued emphatically that six articles out of the eight did not refer to the plaintiffs and the defendant did not intend that they should. They referred, he said, to the witnesses in the hearing who had police court records and not to the plaintiffs. In the two articles in which the names of the plaintiffs appear the truth was stated, he said.

As far as the plaintiffs being damaged is concerned he claimed that the plaintiffs had damaged themselves by coming into court and claiming that the articles referred to them. They were not damaged in fact. Mr. Powers received an increase of pay after the publication of these articles.

Mr. Harvey's argument took an hour and he was followed by Major Bent for the plaintiff.

In opening Mr. Bent stated that counsel for the other side had made the case a trial of Mr. Brown. He had put on only Mr. Brown and his secretary. Neither the defendant nor his reporters went on the stand and the Brown and MacBrayne counsel for the other side had tried to introduce evidence into the matter and every question asked Mr. Brown led to a campaign speech on the part of Brown. The fact that the Courier-Citizen and The Sun were out against Brown has absolutely nothing to do with this case. The papers and the reporters had a perfect right to be opposed to Brown's candidacy. Mr. Bent then took up the evidence.

Mr. Bent reviewed each article and commenting on the article which said that the plaintiffs were volunteer witnesses at the hearing stated that all witnesses were volunteer witnesses, as no witnesses could be formally summoned to such a hearing.

Mr. Bent called attention to the fact that the defendant, although owner of a public newspaper stated under oath that he didn't know how seven out of the eight articles got into his paper and he didn't take the stand so that the other side could ask him a few questions. Under the law, however, it makes no difference how the articles got into the paper or who wrote them, if they are there and they are libellous, the proprietor is liable.

In this paper, he continued, there was a general attempt to malign and vilify the two plaintiffs. This whole series of articles referred to Paradis and Powers.

Mr. Bent concluded his argument at 4 o'clock, referring in closing to the difference between the testimony of Mayor Brown and Secretary MacBrayne.

Charge adjourned at 4.10 and the charge will be made tomorrow morning.

ACCUSED MAN

To Go on Witness Stand and Tell His Own Story

LONDON, Oct. 20.—It was decided today to place Dr. Hawley Crippen on the witness stand and let him tell his own story of the disappearance of his wife, Belle Elmore, the actress, with whose murder he is charged. There had been much speculation as to whether Crippen would testify for himself and the decision of his counsel was not made known until just before the resumption of the trial this morning, when Arthur Newton announced to the press that this course had been determined upon from the standpoint of the defendants in the case.

Dr. Marshall and Spilshury, medical experts, who examined the human parts unearthed in the cellar of the Crippen home in Hilldrop Crescent, repeated their evidence given in the lower court. This was in confirmation of the testimony given yesterday by Prof. Pepper, the pathologist, who swore that the members were human and that he could not determine anatomically the sex of the victim. The cross-examination of the experts, in which Lord Chief Justice Alverstone, who is presiding, joined, centered on the al-

Was Broken by the Heavy Driving Rain

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A heavy driving rain which broke the water famine in Westchester county, where thousands have been scant of water supply for weeks, was New York's portion of the West Indian storm which made itself felt along the upper Atlantic seaboard today. There had been only one insignificant rain here in over one hundred days and woods and plains in the city's environs were parched powder dry, resulting in numerous forest fires.

The drenching downpour continued almost without cessation from midnight, checking the fires and filling the almost dried up streams which supply the reservoirs in Brooklyn and Westchester.

The weather bureau reported that from midnight until 8 o'clock 1.82 inches of rain fell.

JULIA WARD HOWE

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The patriotic, literary and political life of the city, the state and the nation was represented at the bier of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe in the Church of the Disciples today. The little meetinghouse in the Fenway, whose parish was founded by her cherished friend, Rev. Dr. James Freeman Clarke, held a notable throng.

In the absence of the venerable pastor, Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ames, who was too feeble to bear the strain, the funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Samuel Eliot, president of the American Unitarian association, assisted by Rev. William S. Jones, pastor of the Channing Memorial church at Newport.

Coincident with the services in the church every school in the city devoted half an hour to the memory of Mrs. Howe and her poems were read and her "Battle Hymn of the Republic" sung by thousands of young voices.

The casket containing the body came up from the scene of death at Middletown, R. I., during the forenoon and was placed in front of the pulpit before the congregation assembled. The little church proved far from sufficient to hold the gathering, which would have taxed the largest hall in the city.

After the organ prelude, Rev. Mr. Jones read the opening sentences of the burial service, following with an anthem and the reading of scriptural selections by Dr. Eliot. A hymn and a prayer by Rev. Mr. Jones led to the eulogy by Rev. Mr. Eliot, which in part follows:

"Each of us here has some particular reason for grateful appreciation but whatever may be separate ties that have bound us in love and honor to Mrs. Howe, all of us alike share the impression of the richness and abundance of her nature and the prodigality of her gifts."

"This is a career that speaks to us of ripeness and richness of experience, of completed roundness of character and achievement, of rare gifts nobly used."

"She enriched our literature; she fired patriotism; she upheld our ideals alike of domestic fidelity and happiness and of public spirited service; she was interested in everything in nature, in events, in persons, in causes, in truth."

"I think not only of the abundance of her life, but of its perfect poise; a quality which grows more and more beautiful as we tire of the fantastic and one-sided types of character which the world often admires. Here was not only fullness of life by symmetry of life."

"So much of the noblest life disappears with its partialities. So many people we admire are great only on certain sides and in other aspects are comparatively small. The more we value a human life, rich and full and strong all around."

Only the immediate family followed the body beneath the weeping skies to Mount Auburn, where the ashes were laid beside those of her notable husband and anti-slavery leader, Dr. Samuel G. Howe.

SIX MEN KILLED DAIRY INSPECTION

By Explosion of a Boiler in
New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A boiler explosion killed six firemen outright, fatally wounded two others, and threw 2000 women and girls and half as many more men into a panic today at the bagging and rope plant of the American Manufacturing company at Greenpoint, across the East river.

The explosion is a mystery. Without warning the big boiler in the two story brick warehouse attached to the big plant blew up, hurling the eight men through the air to the street outside. The roar and the hiss of escaping steam caused those who were at work in the factory to become panic stricken.

There was a rush for the doors and many of the weaker ones were trampled under foot. The building was shaken as another boiler blew up with earthquake violence. It was then that the police reserves and ambulances arrived. When picked up the bodies of the six firemen were terribly mutilated and it was with difficulty that they were identified. The other two firemen were rushed to a hospital in a dying condition.

Hearing to Discuss Law to Cover System Held in This City

The commission appointed to make an investigation of the system of dairy inspection and to frame a law which will be fair to both the producer and consumer, gave a hearing in Centralville Odd Fellows hall this afternoon.

The commission is composed of the three members of the state dairy board, Charles M. Gardner of Westfield, chairman; Howard A. Parsons of Amherst; and George W. Trull of Tewksbury; and Dr. Milton J. Rosenau of Brookline and George H. Ellis of Newton, the two latter having been appointed by the governor as a result of an act passed by the legislature.

The commission was appointed because of the conflict between the producers of milk and the consumers. The latter claim that the milk is not properly inspected while the producer claims that it is over-inspected and for that reason it was deemed advisable to appoint a commission to hold hearings in different cities and towns throughout the state and get the consensus of opinion and frame a bill to offer to the legislature.

The following is the resolution passed by the legislature:

Resolved, That the dairy bureau be authorized to prepare and report a draft of a bill for the inspection of milk.

Resolved, That the dairy bureau of the state board of agriculture, together with two additional persons to be appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the council, is hereby authorized and directed to prepare a bill for the inspection of milk.

HE DENIES BRIBERY

Chief of Lawrence Fire Department on Witness Stand

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Chief James A. Hamilton of the Lawrence fire department, now on trial before Judge Schofield in the superior criminal court at Salem, charged with bribery to secure his nomination to office, yesterday afternoon went on the stand as the first witness in his defense.

Chief Hamilton testified that he had been in the department for 15 years and had held office as chief since May 24 last. He had first met former Alderman Burns at city hall, and two or three days after the alderman had refused to confirm him as chief he told Burns the mayor had offered the appointment to him and asked him if he would vote for him, and told him that if appointed he would give the drop forge works where Burns was foreman, as much work as he could. He acknowledged that he borrowed $400 from Sam Kress, but said that it was used to pay Kress money he owed him—between $350 and $350.

Witness was acquainted with Legendere and went and asked him to vote for him, and also asked Molson to ask Legendere to vote for him. Molson arranged an interview, and then Legendere said he would vote for him to get even with the mayor, who was not in earnest in nominating him. He denied that he gave either Burns or Legendere money either for themselves or to "fix" other aldermen. He had declined to appoint firemen for both Burns and Legendere.

Carl A. Voelkel, a former alderman, denied that Burns ever showed him any money or gave him any. Hamilton, he did not go to Burns' office and get the money the day after confirmation, as testified to by Burns and his son.

At the morning session Mrs. Rosina Burns, wife of ex-Alderman Burns, testified that she knew Hamilton, first meeting him after her husband was elected alderman. He came to see her husband, and about that time while mending her husband's trousers she found three small pay envelopes, but did not look to see what was in them. She asked her husband what they were and he took them. They were marked Moss, Voelkel and Legendere.

James W. Copperthwaite testified he worked for Mr. Burns from December, 1908, to January, 1910. Some time in December Hamilton came to the shop and went into the office with Burns. Copperthwaite heard Burns say, "I don't want money, Jim. Give me some work in the department and I will stick by you."

Samuel Kress of Lawrence, now serving a sentence for conspiracy to bribe, testified that he knew Alderman Burns at the time of the grand jury investigation and Hamilton about a year before that time. He remembered the appointment of the latter some time in May, having loaned Hamilton $400, receiving two notes for it of $200 each. He was present with him in a tool house on Gardner street, Lawrence, and saw three envelopes in his hand, into each of which he put $200, saying he was going to give them to Burns. They were marked Moss, Voelkel and Legendere. He told Kress to see Legendere and promise him anything to secure his vote.

Herman Kress, father of the last witness, said he remembered loaning his son $400 at the time of Hamilton's appointment, for which he got the two notes for $200, signed by Hamilton.

The members of the firm of Bradley & Donley were on the stand for the defense.

MAN IS ACCUSED Of Having Caused the Death of Another

DEDHAM, Oct. 20.—Blows inflicted with steel knuckles by Fred Lovely with intent to kill or injure caused the death of Louis K. Simons in Boston on Sept. 26, according to the finding of Special Justice Whitaker of the Norfolk county district court. Both principals lived at Plainville and were returning home from Pawtucket on Sept. 25 when they are alleged to have quarreled over a raccoon. The following morning Simons was found badly beaten-up and he died eleven days later at Boston of tetanus, induced by his injuries. Before he died he is alleged to have told his mother that he was attacked by Lovely. The latter has not been seen since the night of the quarrel.

Factory at Danbury Was Destroyed

DANBURY, Conn., Oct. 20.—The factory of the American Hatters & Furriers' Corporation in this city and that of the Connecticut Gas company, a subsidiary concern, were burned this morning, entailing a loss of about $150,000. About two-thirds of the loss is covered by insurance. The cause of the fire has not been determined. No one was injured, as the fire occurred before the hour for beginning work.

THE PLAYERS

WILL RECEIVE QUITE A SNUG SUM

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—A comfortable sum of money is assured for the world's baseball champions if the receipts of the first two games can be taken for any criterion of what is going to follow in the next two battles. Figures compiled last night from the official count, $1,488 for the games at Philadelphia, showing the teams' shares to be $39,153, give the winners of the series a split per man of $1022 and the losers each $681 on the receipts to date.

That these figures will be increased at least 50 per cent. in the coming contests is predicted by the officials, despite the fact that there will be many tickets sold for the West Side games bringing lower prices than those at Philadelphia.

SHIFT IN RAILROAD STOCKS AT THE CLOSE

United States Steel Touched 70—Union Pacific Made An Advance Of Three Points—Other Features Of Today's Trading

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Active trading at the opening of the stock market showed irregular changes but within a narrow range as a rule. International Harvester and Tennessee Copper rose 1/4, Anaconda, American Car and American Loco, declined 1/4.

Prices gave way at a rapid rate until U. S. Steel, U. P., and N. Y. Central offered sufficient resistance to encourage the bulls to wait for a rally, but the market became quiet at a fractional recovery.

The morning stock market showed resistance to the effect of the rise to five per cent. in the bank of England discount rate. This encouraged repurchases. Operations on the recovery centered in United States Steel and U. P., the former rising 1/4 and the latter 1/2 over yesterday's closing. At noon active stocks were a fraction over last night's.

The feature of the market was the heavy accumulation of U. S. Steel, which touched 78 1/2, a rise of 1 1/4. Elsewhere there was also a general stiffening up of prices.

The market held firm but was very dull in the late session. Outside of U. S. Steel, which reached 78 1/2, the fluctuations in the active stocks were of little consequence. Republic Steel advanced 2 points, the pfd. and Central 1/4. American Smelting and the pfd.

The active demand shifted to prominent railroad stocks. U. S. Steel after touching 70 was subject to realizing. Union Pacific rose 3/4.

Bank of England

LONDON, Oct. 20.—As anticipated, the bank of England today raised its discount from 4 to 5 per cent in order to protect its reserve which had been steadily depleted despite the imposition of the 4 per cent rate three weeks ago.

The reserve this week is expected to show nearly $10,000,000 decrease. The Egyptian demand already has exceeded the estimates, owing to the heavy marketing of the large cotton crop. India is expected to take good soon and the South American demand possibly will appear early and as very little gold from the mines is going to the bank of England a strong protective measure was necessary. A fresh outburst of speculation in American and the large number of American dollar bills placed here also are factors to be reckoned with in the monetary situation of the future.

LOAN SHARK LAW

Supreme Court Says It Is Valid

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The loan shark law of 1908 was declared constitutional by the full bench of the supreme court yesterday. It was characterized as a "lawful exercise by the legislature of its police power to protect small borrowers from oppression." The law requires that a license be secured from the local authorities before any person engages in the business of making loans of $200 or less at a rate of more than 12 per cent per annum interest.

of Clayton O. Dewey vs. Frank E. Richardson. Dewey sued upon notes for $25 and $18 given by Richardson for money borrowed and bearing interest at the rate of 2 per cent a month. Richardson defended upon the ground that Dewey was not licensed to do a small loan business as required by chapter 605, acts of 1908, regulating such business. Judge Sanderson in the superior court ordered judgment for the defendant and Dewey appealed, attacking the constitutionality of the statute. The court says: "We cannot say that the legislature might not properly determine that carrying on such a business for gain calls for regulation, and might not accordingly provide that no one should engage in the business unless duly licensed."

The plaintiff especially attacked the requirement of the statute providing that the local licensing officer or board of a city or town shall from time to time establish regulations for the business and fix the rate of interest that may be charged borrowers. The court further says: "Under this section, the rate of interest prescribed may be different in one city or town from that of another. The right of the legislature to delegate to a local board the making of regulations under statutes has long been recognized in this commonwealth as properly founded on the principle of local self-government which has been a part of the law of New England from the earliest times."

TOOK HER LIFE

WOMAN SURVIVED HER HUSBAND BUT FOUR DAYS

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The mystery which surrounded the sudden death of Mrs. Emily Cartwright, who was found dead in bed by her son, Harry, at her home, 161 Davis avenue, Brookline, last Monday morning, was dispelled yesterday when the return was made at the Brookline town hall.

The return read suicide by illuminating gas, and was signed by Dr. Harry M. Cutts, medical examiner of Norfolk county. Dr. Cutts was called upon by a newspaperman last Monday evening, but refused to give out any facts.

James W. Cartwright, Mrs. Cartwright's husband, died last Thursday after a lingering illness, and grief is ascribed as the cause of the widow's act.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The offering of the Katzen-Phelan Amusement company at the Opera House last night was "The Isle of Spice," one of the very best of light musical comedies. The comedy was well sustained in every part, the players in the leading roles winning liberal applause. Miss Horner as Teresa proved a charming and versatile actress. Mr. Ovey as Mackinaw, a deserter from the U. S. S. Roosevelt contributed to the gaiety of the performance. The support was very acceptable and the chorus work deserved special praise. The presentation last night was as good as a large attendance is assured at the matinee today when the "Isle of Spice" is repeated. Tonight

DEPENDABLE PROPRIETARY MEDICINES

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for thirty years and today hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

the attraction to be offered is "The Show Girl."

ANNIE LAURIE

"Annie Laurie," the new romantic drama by M. Douglas Flattery, which was produced with such great success in Boston, will be presented at the Opera House Oct. 28 and 29. The play will have a beautiful new production this season. A very strong company has been engaged, headed by Lillian Bacon, a handsome young actress, who was a star for several seasons in Australia under the direction of J. C. Williamson, the leading manager in Australia. She will make her first appearance in this country in the title role. The story of the play deals with a love affair of the heroine of the famous song during the stirring days of combat between the followers of King James and William of Orange in Scotland toward the end of the 17th century.

MME. TROUBADOUR

A musical entertainment without an all-hogget comedian perpetrating topicalities? A musical entertainment without solos dedicated to the redness of the nose—I mean rose—the blueness of the sky, and the greenness of the field? A musical entertainment without the trooping merry-merries to ogle and analyze? A musical show without the lock stepping galls that accompany the last verses of all songs? A musical entertainment without a plot in which everybody pretends to be everybody else? What yer giv' us? Answer: "Madame Troubadour." The operetta at the Lyric theatre actually dares to offer music as the main attraction of a musical show! No nonsense, no ragtime, no drivin', no snivel, and no non-musical mush. Just music. —By Alan Dale.

"Madame Troubadour" comes to Lowell following the New York and Boston engagements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The offering at the Academy today will be "Phinar & Mammy," musical comedies as "The Gentleman and the Chauffeur," "Rogers, Fontaine & Moore," comedy singers and dancers and Leo Cooper & Co. in a dramatic playlet entitled "The Price of Power." New moving pictures will complete the bill. Admission 5 and 10 cents. Amateur night next Wednesday.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Want to see a really good vaudeville show? Then go to the Merrimack Square theatre this week and see five first class vaudeville acts besides some of the best moving pictures ever. It's a mighty good bill.

Take the act of Carter, Taylor & Co. for instance. There is a comedy sketch worth seeing. Another feature act is that presented by Hansone & Co., who are magicians of an unusual quality.

The scenic stock company has a real love story in "Hearts and Flowers."

For individual acts there are Fred Riverhall and Bobby Jewett. One, Fred Riverhall, is English, while the other, Bobby Jewett, is "The American Boy," but they both accomplish the same end, to wit, to make one laugh.

THEATRE VOYONS

In "Aeroplane in Construction," shown at the Theatre Voyons today, Ely, who is making the Chicago-New York trip in his Curtiss machine, and Bud Meyers, one of the contestants in the Belmont park meet, do the cleverest and most daring stunts ever shown in motion pictures. Another feature is "A Cowboy's Mother-in-Law," a roaring western farce, and one that will be the biggest laughing success of the month. "The Legacy" is a dramatic story of more than usual interest.

HALF HOLIDAY

FOR CLERKS ON THURSDAYS TO BE CONTINUED

The members of the Lowell Retail Grocers and Butchers' association at their regular meeting last night in the Builders' Exchange, unanimously voted to continue their Thursday afternoon closing program throughout the fall and winter. All grocers and provision dealers not members of the association here will be urged to close their shops also, in sympathy with the plan.

Last night's meeting was well attended and transacted a large amount of routine business. President E. S. Fitzgerald presided.

After a discussion of a communication from the legislative committee of the Massachusetts Retail Grocers' association, it was voted that two members of the Lowell association be named to attend the next meeting of the committee, to be held in Boston on Thursday, Oct. 27.

An amendment to the association constitution was submitted and tabled until the next meeting.

LUMBER BURNED

50,000 Feet Destroyed by Fire

LEOMINSTER, Oct. 20.—Fifty thousand feet of sawed lumber has been destroyed and 1000 acres of timberland burned over in a fire which is still raging in the "no town district," which borders on Leominster, Westminster, Princeton and Fitchburg. The fire started Monday, and has been increasing in fury daily in spite of the efforts of the firemen and fire wardens of several towns and cities. Yesterday more than 500 acres were burned over. The lumber destroyed was owned by Wilder, Walker and Davis of Sterling, and was valued at about $18 per thousand feet.

Big Corruption Fund to Influence Legislature in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Representative Otto G. Foelker, the man who was carried from his sick bed into the state senate chamber to cast the deciding vote for the anti-racing bills urged by Governor Hughes, took the stand yesterday and told the Merritt joint legislative committee the details of the attempt to buy his vote which he charges that former State Senator Frank J. Gardner, now under arrest, made in 1908. Gardner, called to the stand, refused to testify, but Robert Elder, assistant district attorney of Kings county (Brooklyn), the next witness, repeated a conversation he said he had with Gardner in March last, which has been previously referred to as a "confession."

Mr. Elder did not vouch as of his own knowledge for the truth of what he repeated, but gave for what it might be worth, testimony that involved more names of men now living and names of men higher in social, business and political life, coupled with the distribution of bigger sums of money, than anything yet heard in either the Aldie hearing or the previous sessions of the present inquiry.

The narrative was nothing less than a sensation. Briefly it told of a dinner at Delmonico's attended by prominent men friendly to the race tracks, of $500,000 subscribed to a corruption fund, of the distribution of this fund to politicians and correspondents at Albany of the New York papers and of the secret grievance of the late Senator Patrick McCarran that worked for the passage of the bill against his own wishes and his own associates.

According to the testimony of Elder, Gardner told him that among the men at the dinner were James R. Keene, David Mitchell, Mr. Parsons, Harry Payne Whitney and Charles H. Hyde. Charles H. Hyde is now chairman of New York city and was formerly a law partner of Mayor Gaynor.

James R. Keene is the well known racing man and millionaire stock market operator. "Mr. Parsons" was not further identified.

"He" (Gardner), continued Mr. Elder, "said there was a dispute about who should handle the money. Finally, he said, $250,000 was given to James Gaffney to take care of three or four members of the legislature—Tammany men, he said."

James C. Gaffney is president of the Gaffney Construction company, which has handled many municipal contracts. "It asked him the total amount of this fund," the witness resumed. "I told him that I had heard $300,000. He said that if I had guessed $600,000 I would have been nearer the mark. Of this sum he said Senator Grady got only $40,000 and I might imagine what the others got."

"Senator McCarran, he said, was angry because he didn't have the handling of the fund and because a strange man was going up there expecting to get away with such a proposition. He attributed the passage of the bill to McCarran's displeasure."

Then came mention of the press. "He" (Gardner), resumed Mr. Elder, "said the newspaper men were liberally taken care of out of the fund."

"I recall," he said, "a man named Joe McEntee of the Sun got $3000; that Patrick Reihan of the Press got $2000, that Louis Seibold, of the World got $3000; George Jandrin of the Brooklyn Citizen $2000 and Tirrell of the Brooklyn Eagle $500. He said the Times man of Brooklyn got $500."

Before Mr. Gardner testified, Representative Foelker related how he had been told "to name his own price," he had been approached, he said, by both Gardner and Frederick Schroeder—formerly quarantine commissioner, now serving a sentence in Sing Sing for larceny, and as high as $50,000 had been offered for his vote.

HIS FOURTH WIFE

WORCESTER MAN TO TAKE ANOTHER CHANCE

WORCESTER, Oct. 20.—Simeon J. Faucher, for many years of 408 Shrewsbury street, but now of Auburn, yesterday afternoon announced that he was soon to be married for the fourth time; and that, not daunted by the other three attempts, he was to try still another time and see if he could not retain the object of his affections, for the other three wives, "bless them, had all died, although they had received the best of care," he said.

Mr. Faucher's fourth choice is Mrs. Katherine Kane, Seward street, whose husband, William Kane, died two years ago—three months before Mr. Faucher's last wife died.

Mr. Faucher will be 68 years old Oct. 28, and is a mansion superintendent employed by his brother, Xavier Faucher, 618 Main street. Mrs. Kane, his bride-to-be, is 53 years old, and has six children, all grown up save the youngest, 10 years old.

FOUGHT 15 ROUND DRAW

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was 16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilotte, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Wellman is ashore, but where's his great airship?

The West Indian hurricane, due here today, has probably spent its force en route.

Very few large buildings are erected without some fatal accident no matter how careful the workmen and the bosses.

Our diversity of climate is shown by the fact that while here in Massachusetts we have warm weather, out in Colorado railroads are blocked by snowstorms.

In all probability a good many residents will be surprised to find that their names are not on the voting list. The list is now made up for state election.

THE CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT

Col. Carmichael, the democratic candidate for congress in the Fifth district, has promised to put up a good battle against his opponent in every part of the district, and the democracy of the district is expected to stand by him. If we are to judge from the political events in other places, there is certainly an opportunity to elect a democrat. The time for a campaign is very brief, so that whatever be done must be done quickly to be effective.

THE CRIPPEN TRIAL

The trial of Dr. Hawley Crippen in London on the charge of murdering his wife will attract wide attention. Counsel on both sides are the most distinguished who could be chosen, while the lord chief justice himself will preside throughout. There will be no nonsense at that trial, and yet the interests of the prisoner will be as well provided for as if he were a millionaire.

THE LATE SENATOR DOLLIVER

Senator Dolliver, who has passed away in Iowa, was a leader of the insurgent idea in the republican party and a man who stood high in the opinion of all parties. But for the opposition of the late Senator Platt, Dolliver would have been placed upon the ticket with McKinley as vice president in 1900 and would thus have become president instead of Roosevelt, but Platt wanted to get rid of Roosevelt and made him vice president. This is an instance of what a slight consideration sometimes turns a man's fate for better or for worse. Dolliver's career, however, was perhaps quite as honorable though not quite so prominent as if he had been president. He was an able and a good man.

BANK INSPECTION IN MAINE

The depositors of the York County Savings bank at Bangor, Me., have decided to allow it to keep open. The shortage is $300,000, partly due to bad investments from 1874 to 1903, but the treasurer is held responsible for a considerable amount of the total, and his bond of $20,000 will go but a short way in reconquering the depositors.

Again comes the query: How comes it that any such losses could go on for thirty years without detection by the trustees or the bank inspectors? It seems that the bank inspectors of Maine fall into the same mistake as those of Massachusetts. In some cases they fail to detect what is wrong.

WELLMAN ADMIRER FOR HIS COURAGE

The first attempt by any human being to fly across an ocean was made by Walter Wellman, and although it proved a failure, yet the man showed such determination that the whole world admires his courage. True, his great airship was caught in contrary gales and driven from the course Mr. Wellman intended to follow, but at a different time of year and with the improvements suggested by this experiment, Mr. Wellman may succeed in his next attempt. It marks the genius and prowess of the man that he is not discouraged by this failure, but on the contrary more determined to carry out his project. All the world will wish him and his crew unbounded success in all his future ventures in this line.

DEMOCRATIC HARMONY AT LAST

Now that Mr. Mansfield has withdrawn from the place assigned him pending the decision of the nominating committee in selecting a candidate for governor, Eugene N. Foss becomes the regular democratic nominee, and as such will go on the state ticket. Had the convention done its work properly in the first place Foss would probably have been nominated, but certain delegates saw fit to leave the convention, certain others pressed their preference with too much vehemence and the chairman failed to use his authority in preserving order.

Now, however, that the long drawn row is over, that Foss is the nominee, it remains for the party, leaders and all, to get together and do what they can to make the most of their opportunity. There is no doubt that a great deal of harm has been done by the prolonged wrangle. The bickerings and the strong-armed tactics adopted have left their scars, but in the face of an adverse situation every loyal democrat will work for the ticket from now until election day.

SEEN AND HEARD

BEHIND THE VEIL

The secret of man's life disclosed. Would cause the strange confusion. Should God the cloud of our remove. Or veil of sweet illusion.

No maiden sees aught the faults or merits of her lover; No sick man guesses if 'twas best To die or to recover.

The miser dreams not that his wealth is dead as soon as buried; Nor knows the bard that sings away Life's treasures, real and varied.

The tree-root lies too deep for sight. The well-source for our plummet. And heavenward fount and palm defy Our scanning of their summit.

Whether a present grief ye weep, Or yet untasted blisses, Look for the balm that comes with tears. The balm that lurks in kisses.

We may reap dear delight from wrongs, Regret from things most pleasant; Fees may confess us when we are gone, And friends deny us present.

And that high suffering which we dread A higher joy discloses; Men saw the thorns on Jesus' brow, But angels saw the roses.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Dr. W. E. B. DuBois has resigned from the professorship of economics and history at Atlanta university to become secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, with headquarters in New York city. Dr. DuBois retains, however, the directorship of the Atlanta university sociological conference, and its work of investigation will, as heretofore, be carried on under his supervision.

George Newberry, president of the Argentine Aero club, proposes this month to attempt flying across the Andes. To take advantage of the prevailing winds the start will be made from Santiago on the Chilean side. The balloon, Buenos Aires, a propitious name, certainly is of fifty-seven thousand cubic feet capacity.

A street car conductor in Kansas is taking a course at the state university.

HOW TO CURE DANDRUFF

Dandruff can be cured by simply washing the hair and scalp with a shampoo composed of Refined Soap, Cochin Cocoon Oil, White of Eggs, Glycerin and Salicylic Acid. This removes all traces of scales or dandruff and makes the hair take on new life. If you have been using common soap, try Birt's Head Wash, which is made of the above ingredients, and see the difference. Ordinary soaps and shampoos contain an excess of alkali, which is bad for the scalp. Birt's Head Wash is sold at all drug and department stores at 25c and 50c.

He is 54 years old, and does eight hours' work each day for the trolley company. His course includes 10 hours a week, and he is studying Latin and Greek, and branches of higher mathematics. His daughter is a freshman in the same college.

The Longfellow hymn, in Portland, Me., seems to be a popular place of interest for visitors to the north country. The Lewiston Journal says that up to October 1 the register shows that 8879 entered the house this year, making a grand total since the opening, in 1901, of 72,937 paid admissions.

Through the generosity of her classmates, Margaret Hogan, a blind student who expected to begin her career as a brandy maker, will be enabled to remain for her fourth year at the college to complete her course and win her A. B. Four hundred and fifty dollars to cover her expenses was raised in three days, and saved Miss Hogan to the class by a margin of forty-eight hours. How was it done? The girls who went deep into their monthly allowances, cutting down all supplies to the bare necessities. Ask the girls who commanded certain sums from certain wealthy relatives and friends. Ask those that gave the small contributions which contained in generosity all the value of the large subscriptions. It was a deal in loyalty which does great credit to the class.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY CIRCLE

The members of the Women's Missionary Circle of the First Baptist church met in regular session yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William T. Sheppard, of 45 Belmont avenue. The program carried out during the afternoon was of unusual excellence.

At a short business session, Mrs. H. L. Tibbets, the president, announced that the book, "Western Women in Eastern Lands," had been selected by the executive board for study this winter. A letter was read from the students who had accepted the 21st scholarship this year, given by the circle for the Baptist Missionary training school at Chicago. The Passion Play at Oberammergau was the subject of the afternoon and Scripture readings by Mrs. Larkin T. Trull; solos by Miss Alice Leitch and an address by Miss Mary Trull. All combined to bring out the story of the cross. A social half hour followed. Mrs. A. G. Pollard and Mrs. Harry G. Pollard assisted Mrs. Sheppard in serving refreshments to the large number of guests present.

MAN WHO KILLED EMPRESS TOOK HIS LIFE

GENEVA, Oct. 20.—Luigi Luccheni, who assassinated the empress of Austria in 1888 committed suicide last evening in his cell in the prison known as L'Eveche.

Two days ago Luccheni went violently insane and, after smashing everything in his cell, was put in a straight jacket. When his violence passed he was given cell liberty. Yesterday afternoon guards heard him singing for several hours, out at night fall he became suddenly silent.

Later the guards, alarmed, entered the cell and found Luccheni hanging to the window bars by his waist belt, which he had twisted around his neck.

September 10, 1888, Elizabeth, Empress of Austria and Queen of Hungary was assassinated at Geneva by the Italian anarchist Luigi Luccheni, who stabbed her with a small stiletto. The murderer rushed upon her and struck her as she was walking, with a single attendant on the quay, towards a lake steamer on which she intended to travel to Montreux.

THE VOTING LIST

Shows a Total Registration of
14,892 Voters

In the state election 14,892 citizens will be entitled to vote for registration at city hall closed last night with that number on the voting list. The number this year is about 30 less than last year.

The registration for the state election by wards is: Ward 1, 1557; ward 2, 1446; ward 3, 1956; ward 4, 1440; ward 5, 1326; ward 6, 1738; ward 7, 1810; ward 8, 1817; ward 9, 1806; total 14,892.

There have been just 807 new voters registered during this entire fall for the primaries and state election, distributed as follows:

Ward 1, precinct 1, 43; precinct 2, 28; precinct 3, 16; total, 87.
Ward 2, precinct 1, 53; precinct 2, 26; precinct 3, 45; total, 124.

A BOLD STEP

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broad-cast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines.

Thus Dr. Pierce has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits and placed them in a class all by themselves by making them remedies OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, overworked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

Ward 4, precinct 1, 30; precinct 2, 29; precinct 3, 47; total, 106.
Ward 5, precinct 1, 37; precinct 2, 34; precinct 3, 23; total, 94.
Ward 6, precinct 1, 36; precinct 2, 28; precinct 3, 29; total, 93.
Ward 7, precinct 1, 15; precinct 2, 21; precinct 3, 28; total, 63.
Ward 8, precinct 1, 17; precinct 2, 29; precinct 3, 30; total, 96. Grand total, 807.

LAW AND ORDER LEAGUE PLANS A CAMPAIGN

The Law and Order league to the number of 25 met at the Kirk street church last evening to discuss the fall campaign. It was announced that work on the campaign has already begun though the nature of the work was not given out.

Robert Magwood of Boston, secretary of the No-Licenses league, and Rev. F. W. Lockwood, also of Boston, assistant superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, were the principal speakers. Both outlined the work of their respective leagues and how it was carried on, suggesting new methods for the Lowell organization.

JAMES J. HILL

Is Still Active at 70 Years

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 20.—James J. Hill of St. Paul, celebrated his 72d birthday anniversary a few days ago and the newspapers gave the dispatch sent out from this city a heading which read "James J. Hill, 72 Years Old."

The head writer would have been much nearer correct had he written "James J. Hill, 72 Years Young."

If there is another man in the United States who has passed the allotted time of three score years and ten, and having done as much work in his lifetime as James J. Hill, "empire builder of the Northwest," still retains as keen an intellect and can yet do as much important work in a day, St. Paul would like to know who he is.

John D. Rockefeller doesn't begin to do the work that Mr. Hill does. The oil king has shifted much of his burden to the shoulders of others. He finds time to play golf and ride around in an automobile. Who ever heard of James J. Hill playing golf or any other game for that matter? As for automobiles Mr. Hill rides in them when it is necessary but he is like his friend, Col. Roosevelt, he likes a good horse and would rather sit behind a fine team than be hauled around in the best automobile that ever was built. The "Father of the Northwest" however, owns several autos.

Mr. Hill's son, Louis W. Hill, on the other hand is what might be called an "automobile fiend." The machine hasn't yet been made that can run too fast for the younger Hill. It is true that as president of the Great Northern railroad, Mr. Louis W. Hill, relieved his father of much work, but in the office of president of the board, James J. Hill finds enough to do to keep him busy every day. His hand is still on the helm and nothing escapes his notice.

Evidence of Mr. Hill's keenness of mind was amply given in the address he delivered before the National Conservation congress last month in St. Paul. Some of the epigrams contained in that address will be quoted in years to come.

Then came Mr. Hill's blunt reply to the speech of Francis J. Heney. Mr. Hill, without mincing words, applied to Mr. Heney "the shorter and uglier" term when he denied that the Great Northern railroad ever had received a cent of aid from the government. Mr. Hill has much to be proud of in his great achievements but if there is anything in his record that he is prouder of than that he built his great railroad without help from the government and that he never drew salary as a railroad official, nobody knows what it is. Consequently when Mr. Heney in his attack on railroads, land grants and such things, began the conservation congress connected James J. Hill's name with the Northern Pacific railroad, which did have government aid in the building, he made a mistake that was so serious and so touched Mr. Hill, that he departed from his usual custom of paying no attention to such attacks, and came back with a reply to which, as far as anyone in the railroad offices in this city knows, Mr. Heney has not seen fit to reply.

Mr. Hill has great faith in St. Paul. To him the Minnesota capital is the real "gateway to the Northwest," which he has done so much to develop. His realty holdings in this city are enormous. He loves its climate and often has said the healthfulness of St. Paul's air and water has done as much as any other thing to sustain him in his work. In winter he rides to his office in an open carriage. Mr. Hill says he never found a day in St. Paul too cold for him to get around. He never finds it necessary to go south to spend a winter. There is a mistaken idea about winter in St. Paul. The air is dry and the cold has not the penetrating effect of damper air in cities further south. Consequently when the thermometer registers below zero in St. Paul the people in this city really do not notice the cold as much as do those in other cities where the temperature is the same.

AIRSHIP WRECKED

Moissant Had a Narrow Escape

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The headlessness of a moment came near being the death yesterday of John B. Moissant, the American aviator who first flew with a passenger across the channel from Paris to London, while he was trying out his new Bleriot monoplane at Belmont park.

Moissant had just made two brilliant turns of the mile and a quarter track when he took his spill. A puff of wind struck the tail of his monoplane and swung it to one side. The aviator quickly righted himself and then, in over-confidence, lifted his feet from the rudder to tinker with the oil feed to his motor.

Instantly the monoplane swooped sideways like a bird winged by the fowler, dived 125 feet to the ground, struck on its right wing and turned completely over. Nobody who saw the fall thought for a moment that Moissant would ever be taken out of the wreck alive; but as it happened, the unhurt aviator, wing broke his fall and he slid easily from his seat. The machine was wrecked beyond repair.

AN ENTERTAINMENT

FOLLOWED HARVEST SUPPER AT THE ELIOT CHURCH

A harvest supper, followed by an entertainment, was held last night at the Eliot church. There was a large attendance, the supper was appetizing and the entertainment an excellent one. The affair was in charge of Mrs. John E. Graham and Miss Marjorie Brdis.

The supper was served by Mrs. Charles S. Proctor, Mrs. V. H. Melster and Mrs. Garfield Davis and a corps of assistants.

The entertainment program consisted of a series of tableaux interspersed with musical numbers by Mrs. F. L. Roberts, vocalist. The tableaux were as follows: "Dutch Clever," Margaret Woodbury; "Swing of the Corn," Miss Felsky; "Grape Juice," Ethel Enig; "Seven Ages of Woman," Gracia Dexter, Corita Bigelow, Ruby Hill, Harriet Kew, Mrs. Bigelow, Miss Foulkner, Garfield Davis; "Seven Ages of Man," Mr. Oliver Sykes, with young boys and the paraphernalia of boyhood and young manhood, including football. A Dutch song was given by Missen May Felsky. Margaret Woodworth, Ruby Hill, Ethel Enig and Harriet Kew, and Mrs. J. E. Graham.

DAIRY INSPECTION

pare and transmit to the general court in print, on or before the second Wednesday in January, nineteen hundred and eleven, a draft of a bill to provide for the inspection of milk at the point of production and during subsequent transportation and holding until the delivery to the consumer, and the inspection and examination of cows and of the premises on which they are kept. The bill shall contain such amendments to existing law as will remove any conflicting provisions and unnecessary duplication of inspection, and the bill shall also contain provisions which will provide for such a thorough and complete inspection of milk as will ensure its cleanliness, purity and fitness for food.

The hearing was scheduled for one o'clock but it was after 1:30 o'clock before it was called to order. Dr. Rosenau was absent and when Chairman Gardner called to order there were about 25 persons, including two women, present.

Among those present were Dr. G. Forrest Martin, chairman of the board of health; Agent Fred A. Bates of the same board; Mr. Inspector Melvin Master and Fleisher H. Pearson of this city, and DeLacy Corkum of Billerica. After Chairman Gardner had read the resolution and explained the purpose of the hearing Fleisher H. Pearson arose and stated that he appeared for himself as a consumer and a student of the milk problem for ten years. He said he was given to understand that the commission was not to consider the standard of the milk. He felt that there should be no chemical standard but instead there should be a standard of purity and wholesomeness.

Mr. Pearson said that milk was nothing more or less than a by-product, especially in this city, where the most of the milk delivered is produced by farmers with few cows. He said the same rules for inspection could not be applied to the small producer as to the big producer.

The speaker advocated two qualities of milk, one for medical use and the other for ordinary use. The former quality is to be of a very high standard while the other could be lower.

He also said that the state board of health should inspect the milk. He added that some legislation should be passed which would force the state board of health and national department of agriculture to co-operate, intimating that there is now or at least was friction between the two bodies.

In conclusion Mr. Pearson advised the commission in drawing up the bill to be presented to the legislature not to prosecute the small producer or it will mean his ruin. He advised giving the small producer a reasonable show.

Leonard W. Wheeler, of Westford, was the next speaker. He said that he was a producer and sold his milk to D. Whiting & Sons, of Boston. He described his farm, etc., and said he objected to the inspection of milk and premises as at the present time, claiming that the inspector calls at his place when he is absent and does not think it fair.

He spoke of the score card system and said that there is a laxity in the marking, stating for instance that he had received three different markings while the condition of affairs had not changed and when he interviewed the inspector relative to the fluctuation the inspector said, "Oh, that doesn't amount to anything."

He said he uses town water, which is considered the best water in the state, and just because he has a well on the premises which he does not use especially for cleaning the milk utensils, the inspector took a sample of the well water and but for the fact that he caught the inspector doing so he might have lost his business.

Mr. Wheeler said that those who want certified milk should create a market for it, but that the general public is more interested in cheap milk. He caused quite a stir when he said that the people want cheap milk and that they should have a chance to get it.

He cited instances which indicated that there is antagonism among the producer, consumer and inspector and felt that instead there should be harmony.

INSTANT DEATH

Harry Bedell, an Electrician, Electrocutated

CLAREMONT, N. H., Oct. 20.—Accidentally completing an electric circuit with his hands, Harry Bedell, an electrician, received a current of 2300 volts through the body and was instantly killed here today. Bedell, who was employed by the Claremont Power Co., was working on a transformer at a local machine shop. Fred Maxfield, who attempted to remove the body, was shocked into unconsciousness but was later resuscitated.

Bedell was 25 years old. He is survived by a bride of four months.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Irving Bennett and Miss Ethel M. Dresser were married Monday afternoon by Rev. A. St. John Chambré at his residence. Mrs. Ralph H. Moody was matron of honor and Mr. Ralph H. Moody was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will be at home after Dec. 1st at No. 31 Greendale avenue, Lowell.

SURPRISE PARTY

The many friends of Miss Annie O'Loughran, a popular employee of Cook, Taylor & Co.'s store in Merrimack street, gathered Tuesday evening to bid her farewell, as she sails for Ireland in two weeks. She was greatly surprised when presented with a gold watch, a gift from her sister, Mrs. Michael Fagan. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Michael Fagan. A pleasant evening was spent during which light refreshments were served, and all departed at a late hour, wishing Miss O'Loughran a pleasant journey. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Michael Fagan, Elm street.

BARSTOW Bay State Ranges

You will find them to be dependable ranges, which always bake uniformly; you will find in them features no other ranges possess.

The End Gas oven is especially useful. It has the broiling compartment in the upper part of it is located the Broiler attachment. This places the broiling rack at a very convenient height to avoid stooping. Above the oven is the 3-burner Gas End Shelf that is always handy for boiling, toasting and frying. These attachments can all be used at the same time as the coal fire, thus doubling the capacity of your range. The High Gas Oven can also be used on this style.

New Spring Fire top.—Makes entire surface of fire available for broiling or toasting. Also enables an even and easy distribution of coal or the use of large chunks of wood. No other range has this feature.

Simply Dampers.—Works with a touch—almost automatic. Cannot be burned out or affected by heat.

Three Styles of Grates: Adapted to one style of frame. Grates and frame freely draw out through the fire door opening for cleaning or renewing.

Patented Extension Tea Shelf.—Found only on our ranges—gives ample space for large dishes.

An Aluminum Plated Oven Rack—Adjustable at two heights. A simple locking device keeps this rack in rigid position when pulled all the way out.

A Metal Heat Radiator.—Of scientific construction and a Twentieth Century Shimmering Cover sent free with each range.

JUSTICE WHITE

May be Made Head of United States Supreme Court

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Among the candidates for chief justice of the United States supreme court whom President Taft is considering is Associate Justice Douglas White, who was appointed from Louisiana and is a democrat. White is known as one of the most progressive of supreme court justices.

While the president is considering both Justice White and Senator Root, he has not given up the idea of appointing Justice Hughes as chief.

None of the supreme court appointments will be made until congress meets in December.

CAPITOL FAVORS WHITE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—During the next two of three weeks the president will give attention to filling the important judicial vacancies now existing.

The gossip about Justice White, one of the two democratic members of the supreme court, for chief justice is regarded here as having some foundation.

In the minds of many lawyers, Justice White has been regarded for a number of years as the ablest man on that bench. The president thinks very highly of him. Justice White was the president's guest last summer on the Mayflower from Beverly to Provincetown, where the president delivered an address at the dedication of the monument to the pilgrims.

Justice White has been on the bench at Washington for more than 16 years, having been appointed from Louisiana by President Grover Cleveland. At the time of his elevation to the highest court he was United States senator from his native state, having entered the senate in 1891.

Justice White was born in Lafourche, La., on Nov. 2, 1845, and was educated at Mt. St. Mary's near Emmitsburg, Md., the Jesuit college at New Orleans and also at Georgetown. He is a veteran of the confederate army. The law had its attraction for him and in 1863 he was admitted to the Louisiana bar, became a state senator in 1874 and an associate justice of the supreme court of Louisiana in 1878.

DEATHS

She leaves a husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bisson, four brothers, Andre, Pierre, Alphonse and Alfred Bisson, all of Lowell, and three sisters, Mrs. Thomas Roy of Seattle, Wash., Mrs. Achille Arbour of Canada, and Miss Lamerise Bisson of Lowell. The body was removed by Undertaker Archambault to the residence of the deceased's parents, 202 Pleasant street, Dracut Navy Yard.

PAQUETTE—Wilfrid Paquette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Paquette, died yesterday at his home, 19 Tucker street, aged 5 years, 3 months. Death was due to cerebro-spinal meningitis and the child was ill but three days.

DIGNAN—Eugene L. Dignan, infant child of Owen and Maria Dignan, died yesterday morning at the home of his parents, 3 Gower street. The funeral took place in the afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of his parents. Burial was in the family lot in the Catholic cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough & Sons in charge.

LIVSEY—Mr. William Livsey, an old resident of this city, died last evening, at the Lowell hospital, at the age of 55 years. His remains were removed to the chapel of Undertaker William H. Saunders in Hurd street.

DUNLAP—The many friends of Mrs. Emma B. Dunlap will be pained to learn of her sad demise which occurred this morning at the residence of the family, 51 Norcross street. She leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband, Frank, one son, Kirk H., and one daughter, Mrs. Blise M. Crawford.

FUNERALS

WHITTEMORE—The funeral of Isaac W. Whittemore took place yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the funeral rooms of Undertaker C. M. Young, 33 Prescott street, and was largely attended. Rev. Charles H. Ellis of Chelmsford Centre officiated. The bearers were relatives of the deceased. Burial was in the family lot in the Tewksbury cemetery under the direction of Undertaker C. M. Young.

STRONG—The funeral of Mrs. Jeanette P. Strong took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of Dr. O. A. Flint in Dracut. Rev. Mr. Bartlett of Dracut officiated. Mrs. Flint sang "Abide With Me" and "No Night in Heaven." The body was forwarded to Bennington, N. H., for burial by Undertaker John A. Weinbeck.

PANEK—The funeral of the late Stanislaus Panek took place this morning at 7:30 o'clock from the undertaking rooms of James W. McKenna, 419 Bridge street, and proceeded to Holy Trinity church on High street, where at 8 o'clock a high mass of requiem was sung by the pastor, Rev. Alexander Ogonowski. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. The bearers were Messrs. Wladyslaw Rafa, Peter Naleznicki, Stanislaus Kaplan and Frank Slowik. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery and was in charge of Funeral Director James W. McKenna.

ANNUAL REUNION

REV. LAWRENCE F. TIGHE, O. M. I.
Pastor

THOMAS WELCH

Of the Immaculate Conception Parish a Great Success

One of the most successful events ever conducted by the immaculate Conception parish was the annual reunion held in Associate hall last evening. The hall was crowded to the doors, every seat was occupied and in the gallery and on the main floor hundreds were obliged to stand. Early in the evening the people of the parish began to arrive and when Rev. Fr. Tighe, O. M. I., the pastor, and Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., the general manager, reached the hall, it was already nearly filled. About every family in the parish was represented and many came from other parishes to aid in the reception of the parish for their tribute of love and loyalty, and must have made him hold in higher esteem and regard, than ever before, if such were possible, the people of his native parish. At the conclusion of the reunion Fr. Tighe took occasion to express his gratitude and thanks to the people of the parish for their generous response to the invitation to attend the reunion. He did not speak from the platform but he made it a point to meet and greet about everyone in the audience and give personal expression to his feelings. As stated in yesterday's paper the afternoon was given over to the children and the returns showed that the number of children in attendance was 200 in excess of the number gathered at any similar occasion in the past. And none among this great audience of children enjoyed himself or herself more than the pastor who remained with the little ones throughout the entire afternoon.

The Evening Program
The evening program was a most entertaining one. The hall was very prettily decorated, autumn foliage and leaves being very prominent in this feature. Around the hall tables and benches were arranged where ice cream, cake, tarts and soda water were served and candles disposed of. The trade at the different tables was very brisk and quite a neat sum of money was taken in by the bustling attendants. John L'ayne who had charge of the entertainment was quite prompt in opening the program. While the orchestra played a lively march, Rev. Fr. Tighe accompanied by Rev. Frs. Sullivan, McQuaid and Fox of the Immaculate late Conception church proceeded to their seats in the front row while the people on the floor and gallery applauded loudly. Later the provincial of the Oblates, Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., accompanied by Rev. John P. Flynn, Rev. Fr. McKenna, superior at the Tewksbury Novitiate, Rev. Fr. McDermott and Rev. Fr. Cornell took seats reserved for them. The entertainment was provided by artists from the local theatres and was greatly enjoyed by the large audience.

Ray W. Snow, "The Man About Town," monologist, provided good fun, and he was followed by the Three Russell Brothers, singing and dancing comedians. Harry Dale, programmed as a "Singing Monologist," was well received, and Muriel Crompton, a variety dancer, pleased immensely. Bobby Jewett and Rastus Brown and Miss Harrison concluded the program.

General dancing was started about 9:30 o'clock and was continued to the midnight hour.

The officers of the affair were:
General committee: Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., general manager; James P. Gilligan, secretary; Patrick H. Farrell, treasurer.

Former Democratic Leader Passed Away This Morning

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 20.—David B. Hill, ex-United States senator and former governor of New York, died suddenly at Wolfert's Roost, his country home, at 3:45 o'clock this morning.

About two weeks ago Mr. Hill was seized with a bilious attack while at his law office in this city and although his condition was not considered serious at the time his physician advised him to remain at home for a few days until he recovered. A cold developed and a few days later alarming reports of his condition were circulated. These reports, however, were denied by friends, in fact the senator appeared to be on the road to recovery until last night, when he suffered a sinking spell which resulted in his death.

David Bennett Hill was born in the village of Havana, Schuyler (then Chenango) county, New York, Aug. 29, 1842. His father, Cullen Hill, was a carpenter. David, who was the youngest of three sons, attended public school and at the age of 17 entered the law office of Col. John L. Lawrence of Havana. In 1863 he went to Elmira and was admitted to the bar the following year. He soon became recognized as one of the leading lawyers of the southern tier. His first ballot was cast as a democrat. He rose rapidly in politics, being chosen city attorney of Elmira, then alderman and then mayor. He was elected to the state assembly in 1870 and re-elected the following year. At democratic state and national conventions Mr. Hill for many years was a leading figure. In 1876 and 1884 he was a delegate to the national conventions which nominated Tilden and Cleveland respectively. In 1882 he was nominated for lieutenant governor on the same ticket with Governor Cleveland. The ticket was elected.

Frank Murphy was before the court upon a charge of non-support of his wife. The court after hearing the stories of both parties decided that Mr. Murphy should pay his wife at least $3 per week, and he directed the clerk to make out an order to that effect. William J. Denney was placed upon probation with the understanding that in the future he would refrain from drinking.

There were four $2 fines and the probation officer released six first offenders.

THOMAS SMITH
Suffered Fracture of the Skull

Thomas Smith fell in William street, this morning, and fractured his skull. He was removed to the Emergency hospital where he was treated and then sent to his home in Lawrence.

THAT COMFORT STATION
The committee on convenience station will hold a meeting Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock.

CONTRACT AWARDED
A contract for 25 tons of 12 inch water pipe for the water department has been awarded by Purchasing Agent Mackenzie to Fred A. Houdlette. The price to be paid is $22.40 per ton.

SPECIAL NOTICE
To further demonstrate and prove I can give better service, do better work, and to show that I have the best equipped optical offices in this city, I am going to offer Friday and Saturday only,

Gold Filled GLASSES
For $1.00

In either frame or frameless spectacles, or eyeglasses, including a thorough examination of your eyes. This offer has never been duplicated before in this city, and I am only enabled to do so by the fact that I do my own lens grinding. For four years I have been giving the people of Lowell a better class of work, and was the first to reduce the price of a pair of glasses to the people. I have thousands of satisfied patients in Lowell.

IN POLICE COURT

Several Cases Disposed of by Judge Hadley

Judge Hadley this morning had many cases of domestic troubles before him, and in each case he administered friendly advice and allowed the defendants to go on probation. He also allowed a number of first offenders to go their way, with the promise that they would do better in the future.

Charles Dyson was charged with assault and battery upon Ernest J. Smith. He pleaded not guilty and his case upon his own request, with the sanction of the government, was continued until Oct. 27.

Thomas Graham has been before the court several times, and as this was his second offence within a year the court decided that he should pay a fine of six dollars.

Joseph Stanley appeared before the court upon a third complaint of drunkenness and upon the testimony of the arresting officers he was adjudged guilty and sentenced to three months in jail.

Arthur Levasseur and Albert P. Nuxley were each given two months in the Lowell jail for repeated complaints of drunkenness.

A FINE PAINTING

Of David Rogers Received By Mayor

An oil painting of David Rogers, who served as a member of the city council in 1856-57 and which was presented to the city by his daughter, Mrs. Mary F. Robertson, of Dorchester, was received yesterday and this morning was hung in the mayor's reception room.

The painting is an excellent one and is in an oval frame. It has been placed on the wall between the paintings of ex-Mayor Elisha Huntington and ex-Mayor James H. B. Ayer.

Mr. Rogers was well known by the old residents of this city and for a number of years was associated with his father in conducting a stable in Central street where the stable of E. B. Conant & Co. is now located.

The following letter relative to the painting was received by Mayor McEehan yesterday:

44 Magnolia Street,
Dorchester, Mass.
Hon. John F. McEehan,
Mayor of the City of Lowell,

My Dear Sir:
The portrait of my father, Mr. David Rogers, will be sent to you by express Tuesday, Oct. 18th. The delay in sending was occasioned by the engagement and illness of the artist who has been putting it in order. I hope it will arrive safely. With kind regards,
Most Sincerely,
Mrs. Mary F. Robertson.

October 16, 1910.

LAST TRIBUTE

PAID BY TOWNSPEOPLE TO MEMORY OF JULIA WARD HOWE

MIDDLETOWN, R. I., Oct. 20.—A little group of the townspeople stood with bowed heads on the platform of the Middletown railroad station today to pay their last act of love and respect to Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, the poet and philanthropist, whose death occurred here on Monday. Today the body of the aged writer, enclosed in a snow white casket, was taken from the Howe summer home and placed in a special funeral car attached to the regular train leaving at 2:45 for Boston, where the funeral is to take place this afternoon at the church of the Disciples.

The funeral party included only the immediate members of Mrs. Howe's family, a few servants, the eight pallbearers and Rev. William Bradford Jones, pastor of the Channing Memorial Unitarian church of Newport, where Mrs. Howe was a frequent attendant.

Presented Purse of Money
Mr. Hector Monette, a popular member of the Centralville Social club, was surprised last night by the members of the club, the occasion being on account of his approaching marriage.

President Rosario Lussier, on behalf of the club, presented Mr. Monette a substantial purse of money. Mr. Monette thanked his fellow members in a manner which showed that he appreciated the present, after which a program, including musical and literary numbers, was carried out.

EX-PRES. ECKERT DEAD
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Thomas T. Eckert, former president of the Western Union Telegraph company, died today at West End, Long Branch, after an illness of several days.

He was born at St. Clairsville, O., April 23, 1825.

ACCUSED MAN HEAVY BATTING

To Go on Witness Stand and Tell His Own Story

LONDON, Oct. 20.—It was decided today to place Dr. Hawley Crippen on the witness stand and let him tell his own story of the disappearance of his wife, Belle Elmore, the actress, with whose murder he is charged. There had been much speculation as to whether Crippen would testify for himself and the decision of his counsel was not made known until just before the resumption of the trial this morning, when Arthur Newton announced to the press that this course had been determined upon from the standpoint of the defendants in the case.

THE VOTING LIST

Shows a Total Registration of 14,892 Voters

In the state election 14,892 citizens will be entitled to vote for registration at city hall closed last night with that number on the voting list. The number this year is about 30 less than last year.

The registration for the state election by wards is: Ward 1, 3557; ward 2, 1446; ward 3, 1355; ward 4, 1440; ward 5, 1326; ward 6, 1738; ward 7, 1810; ward 8, 1817; ward 9, 1805; total 14,892.

There have been just 807 new voters registered during this entire fall for the primaries and state election, distributed as follows:

Ward 1, precinct 1, 43; precinct 2, 28; precinct 3, 18; total, 89.
Ward 2, precinct 1, 53; precinct 2, 26; precinct 3, 45; total, 124.
Ward 3, precinct 1, 39; precinct 2, 30; precinct 3, 18; total, 87.
Ward 4, precinct 1, 30; precinct 2, 23; precinct 3, 17; total, 70.
Ward 5, precinct 1, 37; precinct 2, 21; precinct 3, 28; total, 86.
Ward 6, precinct 1, 36; precinct 2, 28; precinct 3, 22; total, 86.
Ward 7, precinct 1, 37; precinct 2, 29; precinct 3, 20; total, 86.
Grand total, 507.

Won Third Game of Series for the Athletics

CHICAGO	1	2	0	0	0	0	0	2	0	5

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—A light rain early this morning accompanied by a sharp drop in the temperature presaged uncomfortable conditions for the third game of the world's championship series between the Chicago Nationals and the Philadelphia Athletics this afternoon.

As no more rain was in sight, however, it was regarded as certain that the game would be played. The diamond, covered by canvas, did not suffer from the wet, but the outfield was slippery.

The weather depressed the spectators. The leaden skies, the mist and chill winds were no incentive to pay three or four prices for tickets.

A thin, shivering line of undaunted enthusiasts was lined up at the grounds when day broke, waiting for the ticket windows to open. Fifteen thousand tickets were available to the crowd. It was regarded as certain that Ed. Reulbach would pitch for Chicago but Connie Mack said he would not select his man until he had gone on the field and seen the players in practice. The general belief was that Mack's choice would lie between Combs and Plank.

Noon found the grandstand and pavilion seats filled and the bleachers nearly so. Coffee in small buckets was consumed in immense quantities. Reporters who complained of the press arrangements at Philadelphia found ten tiers of seats with desks contained in front of the main grandstand behind the home plate.

The Chicago players came on the field for batting practice nearly two hours in advance of the game.

Owing to the cold, Manager Chance of the Cubs said he might not send in Reulbach to pitch, as had been his intention; but finally allowed him to begin the game.

The batting order:

Philadelphia—Strunk, cf; Lord, lf; Collins, 2b; Baker, 1b; Davis, 1b; Murphy, rf; Barry, ss; Thomas, c; Combs, p.

Chicago—St. Louis, cf; Schulte, rf; Schulte, cf; Hoffman, 1b; Chance, 1b; Zimmerman, 2b; Steinfeldt, 3b; Tinker, ss; Kling, c; Reulbach, p.

First Inning
Philadelphia—Strunk was given his base on balls. He went to second on Lord's sacrifice bunt, who went out. Reulbach to Chance. Schulte took Collins' "Texas leaguer." Strunk scored on Baker's single to center. Baker out, stealing. Kling to Tinker. One run.

Chicago—Schulte walked. Schulte doubled to center field overflow crowd. Schulte going to third. The ground rules allow only two bases on a hit into the overflow crowd. Schulte scored on Hoffman's sacrifice fly to Strunk. Schulte taking third. Chance struck out. Zimmerman's high fly fell into Strunk's hands. One run.

Second Inning
Philadelphia—Davis was passed on four pitched balls. Murphy grounded out. Steinfeldt to Chance. Davis reaching second on the play. Barry doubled into left field crowd, scoring Davis. Thomas' liner was captured by Schulte. Barry being held at second. Barry scored when Combs hit for two bases into the right field crowd. Chance and Reulbach conferred. Kling joining. Play resumed. Strunk went out. Zimmerman to Chance. Two runs.

Chicago—Steinfeldt popped to Barry. Tinker doubled down right field foul line. Kling went out. Barry to Davis. Tinker taking third. Beaumont batted for Reulbach. Beaumont walked. Schulte was issued a free pass, filling the bases. Tinker and Beaumont scored when Schulte hit for two bases to left. Hoffman struck out. Two runs.

Third Inning
Philadelphia—McIntyre went in to pitch for Chicago. Schulte made a running catch of Lord's long fly. Fine rain began falling, but the game was not interrupted. Steinfeldt was barely able to check Collins' sharp hit, which was a safe one. Collins scored when Schulte let Baker's single pass him. Baker took third on the error. Davis was hit by a pitched ball and went to first. Murphy knocked a homerun over the screen into the right field bleachers. Baker and Davis scoring ahead of him. Chicago's entire infield gathered to insist that under ground rules Murphy's hit should merely have been a double. The protest availed them nothing. Chance was ordered off the field for continuing his protest. Archer replaced his place at first. Pfeister knocked the first ball pitched into the centerfield crowd for two bases. Barry scored when Thomas hit to Tinker and the latter threw badly to Archer. Thomas was doubled at second on Combs' hit to Zimmerman. Zimmerman to Tinker. Archer. Five runs.

Chicago—Archer, Baker to Davis. Lord captured Zimmerman's fly. Steinfeldt struck out. No runs.

Fourth Inning
Philadelphia—Strunk flied out to Hoffman. Lord made a clean single to right center. Collins forced Lord at second. Pfeister to Zimmerman. Collins out, stealing. Kling to Tinker. No runs.

Chicago—Tinker singled to right. A double play disposed of Tinker and Kling. Barry to Collins to Davis. Pfeister out. Baker to Davis. No runs.

Fifth Inning
Philadelphia—Baker was retired. Zimmerman to Archer. Davis lined safely to left. Murphy sent a long fly to Hoffman. Barry forced Davis at second. Tinker to Zimmerman. No runs.

Chicago—Baker fumbled Schulte's

THE WATER FAMINE

Was Broken by the Heavy Driving Rain

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A heavy driving rain which broke the water famine in Westchester county, where thousands have been scant of water supply for weeks, was New York's portion of the West Indian storm which made itself felt along the upper Atlantic seaboard today. There had been only one insignificant rain here in over one hundred days and woods and plains in the city's environs were parched powder dry, resulting in numerous forest fires.

The drenching downpour continued almost without cessation from midnight, checking the fires and filling the almost dried up streams which supply the reservoirs in Brooklyn and Westchester.

The weather bureau reported that from midnight until 8 o'clock 1.82 inches of rain fell.

JULIA WARD HOWE

Service Over Remains of Famous Woman Held in Boston Today

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The patriotic, literary and political life of the city, the state and the nation was represented at the bier of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe in the Church of the Disciples today. The little meetinghouse in the Fenway, whose parish was founded by her cherished friend, Rev. Dr. James Freeman Clarke, held a notable throng.

In the absence of the venerable pastor, Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ames, who was too feeble to bear the strain, the funeral services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Samuel Eliot, president of the American Unitarian association, assisted by Rev. William S. Jones, pastor of the Channing Memorial church at Newport.

Coinciding with the services in the church every school in the city devoted half an hour to the memory of Mrs. Howe and her poems were read and her "Battle Hymn of the Republic" sung by thousands of young voices.

The casket containing the body came up from the scene of death at Middle-town, R. I., during the forenoon and was placed in front of the pulpit before the congregation assembled. The little church proved far from sufficient to hold the gathering, which would have taxed the largest hall in the city.

After the organ prelude, Rev. Mr. Jones read the opening sentences of the burial service, following with an anthem and the reading of scriptural selections by Dr. Eliot. A hymn and a prayer by the Rev. Mr. Jones led to the eulogy by Rev. Mr. Eliot, which in part follows:

"Each of us here has some particular reason for grateful appreciation but whatever may be separate ties that have bound us in love and honor to Mrs. Howe, all of us alike share the impression of the richness and abundance of her nature and the prodigality of her gifts.

"This is a career that speaks to us of richness and richness of experience of completed roundness of character and achievement of rare gifts nobly used.

"She enriched our literature; she fired patriotism; she upheld our ideals of domestic fidelity and happiness and of public spirited service; she was interested in everything in nature

SIX MEN KILLED DAIRY INSPECTION

By Explosion of a Boiler in
New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A boiler explosion killed six firemen outright, fatally wounded two others, and threw 2000 women and girls and half as many more men into a panic today at the bagging and rope plant of the American Manufacturing company at Greenpoint, across the East river.

The explosion is a mystery. Without warning the big boiler in the two story brick warehouse attached to the big plant blew up, hurling the eight men through the air to the street outside. The roar and the hiss of escaping steam caused those who were at work in the factory to become panic stricken.

There was a rush for the doors and many of the weaker ones were trampled under foot. The building was shaken as another boiler blew up with earthquake violence. It was then that the police reserves and ambulances arrived. When picked up the bodies of the six firemen were terribly mutilated and it was with difficulty that they were identified. The other two firemen were rushed to a hospital in a dying condition.

Hearing to Discuss Law to Cover
System Held in This City

The commission appointed to make an investigation of the system of dairy inspection and to frame a law which will be fair to both the producer and consumer, gave a hearing in Centralville Odd Fellows hall this afternoon.

The commission is composed of the three members of the state dairy board, Charles M. Gardner of West Amherst, chairman; Howard A. Parsons of Brookline and George H. Mills of Newton, the two latter having been appointed by the governor as a result of an act passed by the legislature.

The commission was appointed because of the conflict between the producers of milk and the consumers. The latter claim that the milk is not properly inspected while the producer claims that it is over-inspected and for that reason it is deemed advisable to appoint a commission to hold hearings in different cities and towns throughout the state and get the consensus of opinion and frame a bill to offer to the legislature.

The following is the resolution passed by the legislature:

Resolved:—To direct the dairy bureau to prepare and report a draft of a bill for the inspection of milk.

Resolved, that the dairy bureau of the state board of agriculture, together with two additional persons to be appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the council, is hereby authorized and directed to prepare a bill for the inspection of milk.

HE DENIES BRIBERY

Chief of Lawrence Fire Department on Witness Stand

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Chief James A. Hamilton of the Lawrence fire department, now on trial before Judge Schofield in the superior criminal court at Salem, charged with bribery to secure his nomination to office, yesterday afternoon went on the stand as the first witness in his defense.

Chief Hamilton testified that he had been in the department for 15 years and had held office as chief since May 24 last. He had first met former Alderman Burns at city hall, and two or three days after the alderman had refused to confirm him as chief he told Burns the mayor had offered the appointment to him and asked him if he would vote for him, and told him that if appointed he would give the drop forge works where Burns was foreman, as much work as he could. He acknowledged that he borrowed $400 from Sam Kress, but said that it was used to pay Kress money he owed him—between $240 and $250.

Witness was acquainted with Legendere and went and asked him to vote for him, and also asked Moisan to ask Legendere to vote for him. Moisan arranged an interview, and then Legendere said he would vote for him to get even with the mayor, who was not in earnest in nominating him. He denied that he gave either Burns or Legendere money either for themselves, or to "fix" other aldermen. He had declined to appoint firemen for both Burns and Legendere.

Carl A. Woelke, a former alderman, denied that Burns ever showed him any money or gave him any from Hamilton. He did not go to Burns' office and get the money the day after confirmation, as testified to by Burns and his son.

At the morning session Mrs. Rosina Burns, wife of ex-Alderman Burns, testified that she knew Hamilton, first meeting him after her husband was elected alderman. He came to see her husband, and about that time while mending her husband's trousers she found three small pay envelopes, but did not look to see what was in them. She asked her husband what they were and he took them. They were marked Moss, Woelke and Legendere.

James W. Copperthwaite testified he worked for Mr. Burns from December, 1909, to January, 1910. Some time in December Hamilton came to the shop and went into the office with Burns. Copperthwaite heard Burns say, "I don't want money, Jim. Give me some work in the department and I will stick by you."

Samuel Kress of Lawrence, now serving a sentence for conspiracy to bribe, testified that he knew Alderman Burns at the time of the grand jury investigation and Hamilton about a year before that time. He remembered the appointment of the latter some time in May, having loaned Hamilton $400, receiving two notes for it of $200 each. He was present with him in a tool house on Gardner street, Lawrence, and saw three envelopes in his hand, into each of which he put $200, saying he was going to give them to Burns. They were marked Kress, Woelke and Legendere. He told Kress to see Legendere and promise him anything to secure his vote.

Alvan Kress, father of the last witness, said at the time of Hamilton's appointment, for which he got the two notes for $200, signed by Hamilton. The members of the firm of Bradley & Dooley were on the stand for the defense.

BIG STEAMSHIP

The Olympic Launched at Belfast Today

BELFAST, Ireland, Oct. 20.—The first of the two mammoth White Star liners, the Olympic, was launched successfully amid scenes of much enthusiasm today. In accordance with the custom of the White Star line there was no christening ceremony. The new vessel is of 45,000 tons. She has been building for twenty-two months and it will be some eight months longer before she is ready for her trial trip. The Olympic is a triple screw steamer, her principal dimensions being, length over all, 822½ feet, breadth over all, 92½ feet, height from bottom of keel to top of captain's house 103½ feet. She exceeds by nearly 100 feet in length and 13,000 tons any other ship afloat and it stood on end would overtop the Metropolitan tower in New York by 182 feet. She is four times as long as Bunker Hill monument in height.

The Olympic will accommodate 2500 passengers and a crew of 860. She has eleven steel decks and 15 watertight bulkheads. A sister vessel, the Titanic, is building and will soon be launched.

MAN IS ACCUSED
Of Having Caused the Death of Another

DEDHAM, Oct. 20.—Blows inflicted with steel knuckles by Fred Lovely with intent to kill or injure caused the death of Louis K. Simons in Boston on Sept. 26, according to the finding of Special Justice Whitaker of the Norfolk county district court. Both principals lived at Plainville and were returning home from Pawtucket on Sept. 25 when they are alleged to have quarreled over a raccoon. The following morning Simons was found badly beaten up and he died eleven days later at Boston of tetanus, induced by his injuries. Before he died he is alleged to have told his mother that he was attacked by Lovley. The latter has not been seen since the night of the quarrel.

LAKE MOHONK CONFERENCE.
MOHONK LAKE, N. Y., Oct. 20.—Problems that beset the federal government in the Philippines were discussed today by Right Rev. Charles Brent, bishop of the Philippines, at the Lake Mohonk conference of the friends of the Indians and other dependent peoples. The bishop said that "the moment has now come when the manifest duty of the Philippine government is to place industrial matters in front of its thoughts."

Factory at Danbury Was Destroyed

DANBURY, Conn., Oct. 20.—The factory of the American Hatters & Furriers' Corporation in this city and that of the Connecticut Glue company, a subsidiary concern, were burned this morning, entailing a loss of about $150,000. About two-thirds of the loss is covered by insurance. The cause of the fire has not been determined. No one was injured as the fire occurred before the hour for beginning work.

THE PLAYERS

WILL RECEIVE QUITE A SNUG SUM

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—A comfortable sum of money is assured for the world's baseball champions if the receipts of the first two games can be taken for any criterion of what is going to follow in the next two battles. Figures compiled last night from the official count, 61,488 for the games at Philadelphia, showing the teams' shares to be $30,183, give the winners of the series a split per man of $1022 and the losers each $681 on the receipts to date.

That these figures will be increased at least 50 per cent. in the coming contests is predicted by the officials, despite the fact that there will be many tickets sold for the West. Six games bringing lower prices than those at Philadelphia.

SHIFT IN RAILROAD STOCKS AT THE CLOSE

United States Steel Touched 78—Union Pacific Made An Advance Of Three Points—Other Features Of Today's Trading

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Active trading at the opening of the stock market showed irregular changes but within a narrow range as a rule. International Harvester and Tennessee Copper rose 1/4, Anaconda, American Car and American Loco, declined 1/4.

Prices gave way at a rapid rate until U. S. Steel, U. P., and N. Y. Central offered sufficient resistance to encourage the bulls to wait for a rally but the market became quiet at a fractional recovery.

The morning stock market showed resistance to the effect of the rise to five per cent. in the bank of England discount rate. This encouraged repurchasers. Operations on the recovery centered in United States Steel and U. P., the former rising 1/4 and the latter 3/4 over yesterday's closing. At noon active stocks were a fraction over last night's.

The feature of the market was the heavy accumulation of U. S. Steel, which touched 78 1/4, a rise of 1 1/4. Elsewhere there was also a general stiffening up of prices.

The market held firm but was very dull in the late session. Outside of U. S. Steel, which reached 78 1/4, the fluctuations in the active stocks were of little consequence. Republic Steel advanced 2 points, the pf. and Central 1 1/4, American Smelting and the pf. 1 1/4.

The active demand shifted to prominent railroad stocks. U. S. Steel after touching 78 was subject to realizing. Union Pacific rose 3.

Crawford Ranges

The Crawford Gas Ovens are safe. They are lighted in a new way; there is no dangerous pilot light and explosions are impossible. This improvement is patented and very important.

The Damper is automatically opened by opening oven door to light the burners, which cannot be lighted until the door is opened.

In these Gas Ovens there is an extra set of burners at the top for broiling; a great advantage over the ordinary gas oven, insuring better broiling and great convenience.

The Oven Bottoms and Racks are cast iron, and the outer walls are triple—an interlining of asbestos between two sheets of iron, which assists to retain the heat.

The use of these Gas Ovens does not interfere in any way with the operation of the coal range—both can be used at the same time.

ACCUSED MAN

LONDON, Oct. 20.—As anticipated, the bank of England today raised its discount from 4 to 5 per cent in order to protect its reserve which had been steadily depleted despite the imposition of the 4 per cent rate three weeks ago.

The reserve this week is expected to show nearly $10,000,000 decrease. The Egyptian demand already has exceeded the estimates owing to the heavy market for the large cotton crop. India is expected to take gold soon and the South American demand possibly will appear early and as very little gold from the mines is going to the bank of England a strong protective measure was necessary. A fresh outburst of speculation in American and the large number of American finance bills placed here also are factors to be reckoned with in the monetary situation of the future.

from heart disease. He came from his work this morning apparently in good health and in a very short time he was taken with a fainting spell. Physicians were called and did all that medical skill would permit, but to no avail.

The deceased leaves besides his wife to mourn his loss three sons, Daniel F., Edward H. and Henry J., and one daughter, Mrs. Michael Larkin. He is also survived by seven brothers and one sister.

Fresh Air in Winter

In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows it is hard again to heat the room properly. If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless solves the difficulty. You can leave the windows in a room open all day in winter, and when you close them apply a match to a Perfection Oil Heater and heat the room to any temperature you desire in a few minutes.

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly cleaned. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font.

The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

LOAN SHARK LAW

Supreme Court Says It Is Valid

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The loan shark law of 1908 was declared constitutional by the full bench of the supreme court yesterday. It was characterized as a "lawful exercise by the legislature of its police power to protect small borrowers from oppression." The law requires that a license be secured from the local authorities before any person engages in the business of making loans of $200 or less at a rate of more than 12 per cent per annum interest.

The case before the court was that of Clayton O. Dewey vs. Frank E. Richardson.

Dewey sued upon notes for $25 and $18 given by Richardson for money borrowed and bearing interest at the rate of 2 per cent a month. Richardson defended upon the ground that Dewey was not licensed to do a small loan business as required by chapter 606, acts of 1908, regulating such business. Judge Sanderson in the superior court ordered judgment for the defendant and Dewey appealed, attacking the constitutionality of the statute.

The court says: "We cannot say that the legislature might not properly determine that carrying on such a business for gain calls for regulation, and might not accordingly provide that no one should engage in the business unless duly licensed. . . ."

The plaintiff especially attacked the requirement of the statute providing that the local licensing officer or board of a city or town shall from time to time establish regulations for the business and fix the rate of interest that may be charged borrowers.

The court further says: "Under this section, the rate of interest prescribed may be different in one city or town from that of another. The right of the legislature to delegate to a local board the making of regulations under statutes has long been recognized in this commonwealth as properly founded on the principle of local self-government which has been a part of the law of New England from the earliest times."

TOOK HER LIFE

WOMAN SURVIVED HER HUSBAND BUT FOUR DAYS

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The mystery which surrounded the sudden death of Mrs. Emily Cartwright, who was found dead in bed by her son, Harry, at her home, 161 Davis avenue, Brookline, last Monday morning, was dispelled yesterday when the return was made at the Brookline town hall.

The return read suicide by illuminating gas, and was signed by Dr. Harry M. Cutts, medical examiner of Norfolk county. Dr. Cutts was called upon by a newspaperman last Monday evening, but refused to give out any facts.

James W. Cartwright, Mrs. Cartwright's husband, died last Thursday after a lingering illness, and grief is ascribed as the cause of the widow's act.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The offering of the Kautz-Pheasant Amusement company at the Opera House last night was "The Isle of Spice," one of the very best of light musical comedies. The comedy was well sustained in every part, the players in the leading roles winning liberal applause. Miss Horner as Teresa proved a charming and versatile actress. Mr. Ovey as Mackinaw, a deserter from the U. S. S. Roosevelt contributed to the gaiety of the performance. The support was very acceptable and the chorus work deserved special praise. The presentation last night was as good that a large attendance is assured at the matinee today when the "Isle of Spice" is repeated. Tonight

DEPENDABLE PROPRIETARY MEDICINES

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for thirty years and today hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. the attraction to be offered is "The Show Girl."

ANNIE LAURIE

"Annie Laurie," the new romantic drama by M. Douglas Platter, which was produced with such great success in Boston, will be presented at the Opera House Oct. 28 and 29.

The play will have a beautiful new production this season. A very strong company has been engaged, headed by Lillian Bacon, a handsome young actress, who was a star for several seasons in Australia under the direction of J. C. Williamson, the leading manager in Australia. She will make her first appearance in this country in the title role. The story of the play deals with a love affair at the height of the famous song during the stirring days of combat between the followers of King James and William of Orange in Scotland toward the end of the 17th century.

MME. TROUBADOUR

A musical entertainment without an all-hoglist comedian perpetrating topicalities? A musical entertainment without solos dedicated to the redness of the nose—I mean roses—the blueness of the sky, and the greenness of the field? A musical entertainment without the trouping merry-murries to ogle and analyze? A musical show without the lock stepping galls that accompany the last verses of all songs? A musical entertainment without a plot in which everybody pretends to be everybody else? What ver givin' us?

Answer: "Madame Troubadour." The operetta at the Lyric theatre actually dares to offer music as the main attraction of a musical show! No monologues, no ragtime, no drivels, no snivels, and no sentimental mush. Just music.

—By Alan Dale.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

The offering at the Academy today will be Phinar & Mummy, musical comedians, as "The Gentleman and the Chauffeur," Rogers, Fontaine and Moore, comedy singers and dancers and Leo Cooper & Co. in a dramatic playlet entitled "The Price of Power." New moving pictures will complete the bill. Admission 5 and 10 cents. Amateur night next Wednesday.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Want to see a really good vaudeville show? Then go to the Merrimack Square theatre this week and see five first class vaudeville acts besides some of the best moving pictures ever. It's a mighty good bill.

Take the act of Carter, Taylor & Co. for instance. There is a comedy sketch worth seeing. Another feature act is that presented by Hansone & Co., who are magicians of an unusual quality.

The Scenic Stock company has a real love story in "Hearts and Flowers."

For individual acts there are Fred Rivenhall and Bobby Jewett. One, Fred Rivenhall, is English, while the other, Bobby Jewett, is "The American Boy," but they both accomplish the same end, to wit, to make one laugh.

THEATRE VOYONS

In "Aeroplanes in Construction," shown at the Theatre Voyons today, Ely, who is making the Chicago-New York trip in his Curtiss machine, and Bud Meyers, one of the contestants in the Belmont motor race, do the cleverest and most daring stunts ever shown in motion pictures. Another feature is "A Cowboy's Mother-in-Law," a roasting western farce, and one that will be the biggest laughing success of the month. "The Legacy" is a dramatic story of more than usual interest.

HALF HOLIDAY

FOR CLERKS ON THURSDAYS TO BE CONTINUED

The members of the Lowell Retail Grocers and Butchers' association at their regular meeting last night in the Builders' Exchange, unanimously voted to continue their Thursday afternoon closing program throughout the fall and winter. All grocers and provision dealers not members of the association here will be urged to close their shops also, in sympathy with the plan.

Last night's meeting was well attended and transacted a large amount of routine business. President E. S. Fitzgerald presided.

After a discussion of a communication from the legislative committee of the Massachusetts Retail Grocers' association, it was voted that two members of the Lowell association be named to attend the next meeting of the committee, to be held in Boston on Thursday, Oct. 27.

An amendment to the association constitution was submitted and tabled until the next meeting.

LUMBER BURNED

50,000 Feet Destroyed by Fire

LEOMINSTER, Oct. 20.—Fifty thousand feet of sawed lumber has been destroyed and 1000 acres of timberland burned over in a fire which is still raging in the "no town district," which borders on Leominster, Westminster, Princeton and Fitchburg. The fire started Monday, and has been increasing in fury and violence since the efforts of the firemen and fire volunteers of the several towns and cities. Yesterday more than 500 acres were burned over. The lumber destroyed was owned by Wilder, Walker and Davis of Sterling, and was valued at about $18 per thousand feet.

Big Corruption Fund to Influence Legislature in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Representative Otto G. Foelker, the man who was carried from his sick bed into the state senate chamber to cast the deciding vote for the anti-racing bills urged by Governor Hughes, took the stand yesterday and told the Merritt joint legislative committee the details of the attempt to buy his vote which he charges that former State Senator Frank J. Gardner, now under arrest, made in 1908. Gardner, called to the stand, refused to testify, but Robert Elder, assistant district attorney of Kings county (Brooklyn), the next witness, repeated a conversation he said he had with Gardner in March last, which has been previously referred to as a "confession."

Mr. Elder did not vouch as of his own knowledge for the truth of what he repeated, but gave for what it might be worth, testimony that involved more names of men now living and names of men higher in social, business and political life, coupled with the distribution of bigger sums of money, than anything yet heard in either the Albee hearing or the previous sessions of the present inquiry.

The narrative was nothing less than a sensation. Briefly it told of a dinner at Delmonico's attended by prominent men friendly to the race tracks, of $500,000 subscribed to a corruption fund, of the distribution of this fund to politicians and correspondents at Albany of the New York papers and of the secret grievances of the late Senator Patrick McCarren that worked for the passage of the bill against his own wishes and his own associates.

According to the testimony of Elder, Gardner told him that among the men at the dinner were James R. Keene, David Mitchell, Mr. Parsons, Harry Payne Whitney and Charles H. Hyde. Charles H. Hyde is now chamberlain of New York city and was formerly a law partner of Mayor Gaynor.

James R. Keene is the well known racing man and millionaire stock market operator.

"Mr. Parsons" was not further identified. "Hyde" (Gardner), continued Mr. Elder, "said there was a dispute about who should handle the money. Finally, he said, $250,000 was given to James Gaffney to take care of three or four members of the legislature—Tammany men, he said."

James C. Gaffney is president of the Gaffney Construction company, which has handled many municipal contracts. "I asked him the total amount of this fund," the witness resumed. "I told him that I had heard $500,000. He said that if I had guessed $500,000 I would have been nearer the mark. Of this sum he said Senator Grady got only $400 and I might imagine what the others got."

"Senator McCarren, he said, was angry because he didn't have the handling of the fund and because a strange man was going up there expecting to get away with such a proposition. He attributed the passage of the bill to McCarren's displeasure."

Then came mention of the press. "Ho" (Gardner), resumed Mr. Elder, "said the newspaper men were liberally taken care of out of the fund."

"I recall," he said, "a man named Joe McEnroe of the Sun got $3000; that Patrick Reilhan of the Press got $3000, that Louis Selbold, of the World got $3000; George Jandrin of the Brooklyn Citizen $3000 and Tirrell of the Brooklyn Eagle $300. He said the Times man of Brooklyn got $300."

Before Mr. Gardner testified, Representative Foelker related how he had been told "to name his own price," he had been approached, he said, by both Gardner and Frederick Schroeder—formerly quarantine commissioner, now serving a sentence in Sing Sing for larceny, and as high as $50,000 had been offered for his vote.

HIS FOURTH WIFE
WORCESTER MAN TO TAKE ANOTHER CHANCE

WORCESTER, Oct. 20.—Simeon J. Faucher, for many years of 409 Shrewsbury street, but now of Auburn, yesterday afternoon announced that he was soon to be married for the fourth time; and that, not daunted by the other three attempts, he was to try still another time and see if he could not retain the object of his affections, for the other three wives, "bless them, had all died, although they had received the best of care," he said.

Mr. Faucher's fourth choice is Mrs. Katherine Kane, Seward street, whose husband, William Kane, died two years ago—three months before Mr. Faucher's last wife died.

Mr. Faucher will be 58 years old Oct. 26, and is a mason superintendent employed by his brother, Xavier Faucher, 518 Main street. Mrs. Kane, his bride-to-be, is 53 years old, and has six children, all grown up save the youngest, 10 years old.

THREE DOLLARS PER YEAR. TWENTY-FIVE CENTS PER MONTH

The sworn daily average circulation of The Lowell Sun for the year 1909 was

16,828

Sworn to by John H. Harrington, proprietor, Martin H. Reidy, business manager, and Alfred Pilote, pressman, of The Sun, before me, January 1, 1910. J. JOSEPH HENNESSY, Notary Public.

This is by far the largest average circulation of any newspaper in Lowell.

Wellman is ashore, but where's his great airship?

The West Indian hurricane, due here today, has probably spent its force en route.

Very few large buildings are erected without some fatal accident no matter how careful the workmen and the bosses.

Our diversity of climate is shown by the fact that while here in Massachusetts we have warm weather, out in Colorado railroads are blocked by snowstorms.

In all probability a good many residents will be surprised to find that their names are not on the voting list. The list is now made up for state election.

THE CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT

Col. Carmichael, the democratic candidate for congress in the Fifth district, has promised to put up a good battle against his opponent in every part of the district, and the democracy of the district is expected to stand by him. If we are to judge from the political events in other places, there is certainly an opportunity to elect a democrat. The time for a campaign is very brief, so that whatever be done must be done quickly to be effective.

THE CRIPPEN TRIAL

The trial of Dr. Hawley Crippen in London on the charge of murdering his wife will attract wide attention. Counsel on both sides are the most distinguished who could be chosen, while the lord chief justice himself will preside throughout. There will be no nonsense at that trial, and yet the interests of the prisoner will be as well provided for as if he were a millionaire.

THE LATE SENATOR DOLLIVER

Senator Dolliver, who has passed away in Iowa, was a leader of the insurgent idea in the republican party and a man who stood high in the opinion of all parties. But for the opposition of the late Senator Platt, Dolliver would have been placed upon the ticket with McKinley as vice president in 1900 and would thus have become president instead of Roosevelt, but Platt wanted to get rid of Roosevelt and made him vice president. This is an instance of what a slight consideration sometimes turns a man's fate for better or for worse. Dolliver's career, however, was perhaps quite as honorable though not quite so prominent as if he had been president. He was an able and a good man.

BANK INSPECTION IN MAINE

The depositors of the York County Savings bank at Bangor, Me., have decided to allow it to keep open. The shortage is $300,000, partly due to bad investments from 1874 to 1903, but the treasurer is held responsible for a considerable amount of the total, and his bond of $20,000 will go but a short way in recouping the depositors.

Again comes the query: How comes it that any such losses could go on for thirty years without detection by the trustees or the bank inspectors? It seems that the bank inspectors of Maine fall into the same mistake as those of Massachusetts. In some cases they fail to detect what is wrong.

WELLMAN ADMIRER FOR HIS COURAGE

The first attempt by any human being to fly across an ocean was made by Walter Wellman, and although it proved a failure, yet the man showed such determination that the whole world admires his courage. True, his great airship was caught in contrary gales and driven from the course Mr. Wellman intended to follow, but at a different time of year and with the improvements suggested by this experiment, Mr. Wellman may succeed in his next attempt. It marks the genius and prowess of the man that he is not discouraged by this failure, but on the contrary more determined to carry out his project. All the world will wish him and his crew unbounded success in all his future ventures in this line.

DEMOCRATIC HARMONY AT LAST

Now that Mr. Mansfield has withdrawn from the place assigned him pending the decision of the nominating committee in selecting a candidate for governor, Eugene N. Foss becomes the regular democratic nominee, and as such will go on the state ticket. Had the convention done its work properly in the first place Foss would probably have been nominated, but certain delegates say fit to leave the convention, certain others pressed their preference with too much vehemence and the chairman failed to use his authority in preserving order.

Now, however, that the long drawn row is over, that Foss is the nominee, it remains for the party, leaders and all, to get together and do what they can to make the most of their opportunity. There is no doubt that a great deal of harm has been done by the prolonged wrangle. The bickerings and the strong-armed tactics adopted have left their scars, but in the face of an adverse situation every loyal democrat will work for the ticket from now until election day.

SEEN AND HEARD

BEHIND THE VEIL

The secret of man's life disclosed. Would cause him strange confusion. Should God the cloud of fear remove. Or veil of sweet illusion.

No maiden sees aught the faults. Or merits of her lover; No sick man guesses if 'twas best To die or to recover.

The miser dreams not that his wealth Is dead as soon as buried; Nor knows the hard that sings away Life's treasures, real and varied.

The tree-root lies too deep for sight. The well-source for our plummet. And heavenward faint and pain defy Our scanning of their summit.

Whether a present grief we weep, Or yet untasted blisses. Look for the balm that comes with tears. The balm that licks in kisses.

We may reap dear delight from wrongs. Regret from things most pleasant; Foes may confess us when we are gone. And friends deny us present.

And that high suffering which we dread. A higher joy discloses; Men saw the thorns on Jesus' brow, But angels saw the roses.

—Julia Ward Howe.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

DuBois has resigned from the professorship of economics and history at Atlanta university to become secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, with headquarters in New York city. ## HOW TO CURE DANDRUFF

Dandruff can be cured by simply washing the hair and scalp with a shampoo composed of Refined Soap, Cocoon Cocoon Oil, White of Eggs, Glycerin and Salicylic Acid. This removes all traces of scales or dandruff and makes the hair take on new life. If you have been using common soap, try Ritz's Head Wash, which is made of the above ingredients, and see the difference. Ordinary soaps and shampoos contain an excess of alkali, which is bad for the scalp. Ritz's Head Wash is sold at all drug and department stores at 25c and 50c.

Ask those that gave the small contributions which contained in generosity all the value of the large subscriptions. It was a deal in loyalty which does great credit to the class.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY CIRCLE.

The members of the Women's Missionary Circle of the First Baptist church met in regular session yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William T. Sheppard, of 46 Belmont avenue. The program carried out during the afternoon was of unusual excellence.

At a short business session, Mrs. H. L. Tibbets, the president, announced that the book, "Western Women in Eastern Lands," had been selected by the executive board for study this winter. A letter was read from the student who has accepted the $150 scholarship this year, given by the circle for the Baptist Missionary training school at Chicago. The Passion Play at Oberammergau was the subject of the afternoon and Scripture readings by Mrs. Larkin T. Trull; solos by Miss Alice Leith and an address by Miss Fanny Trull combined to bring out the story of the cross. A social half hour followed. Mrs. A. G. Pollard and Mrs. Harry G. Pollard assisted Mrs. Sheppard in serving refreshments to the large number of guests present.

A SUICIDE

MAN WHO KILLED EMPRESS TOOK HIS LIFE

GENEVA, Oct. 20.—Luigi Luccheni, who assassinated the Empress of Austria in 1898 committed suicide last evening in his cell in the prison known as L'Eveche.

Two days ago Luccheni went violently insane and, after smashing everything in his cell, was put in a straight jacket. When his violence passed he was given cell liberty. Yesterday afternoon, guards heard him singing for several hours, but at night fall he became suddenly silent.

Later the guards, alarmed, entered the cell and found Luccheni hanging to the window bars by his waist belt, which he had twisted around his neck. On September 10, 1898, Elizabeth, Empress of Austria and Queen of Hungary was assassinated at Geneva by the Italian anarchist Luigi Luccheni, who stabbed her with a small stiletto. "The murderer rushed upon her and struck her as she was walking with a single attendant on the quay, towards a lake steamer on which she intended to travel to Montreux."

BAZAAR PLANS

PERFECTED BY SODALITIES OF SACRED HEART CHURCH

The Holy Rosary and Children of Mary sodalities of the Sacred Heart church held a business meeting in the school hall last evening to make plans for the coming bazaar.

It was voted to have all the articles contributed for the various tables sent to the parochial residence not later than Monday afternoon next.

After the business meeting was over refreshments were served, the committee in charge being Mrs. Adelaide A. Muldoon, Miss Mary Devine and Miss Mary E. Crowley.

Dancing was enjoyed until 10 o'clock. Mr. John Poole at the piano and Mr. James Sullivan at the drum. All the members of the Holy Name society are invited to be present at the meeting in the school hall this evening at 8 o'clock to make final preparations for the bazaar.

THE ARGUMENTS

In Case of Paradis and Powers vs. Long Concluded Today

The Paradis-Powers vs. Long libel case was resumed at the opening of court this morning with Winfred C. MacBrayne on the witness stand.

Editor Marden Testifies

Before Mr. MacBrayne continued, however, Philip S. Marden, managing editor of the Courier-Citizen, was put in by the plaintiff and after answering preliminary questions, he was asked:

"Did Mr. Paradis ever tell you of a conversation with Mayor Brown and his secretary relative to a certain offer?"

Mr. Harvey objected and a discussion by counsel ensued. The court admitted the question.

Mr. Marden answered: "Mr. Paradis told me either late in January or early in February."

"What did he tell you?"

"He told me that Mayor Brown had said to him that possibly a boxing or wrestling permit would be an inducement for him to be on the level with the mayor. He also told about an offer of a liquor license by Mr. MacBrayne to Mr. Powers."

Cross-examined Mr. Marden said that he made no comment on what Mr. Paradis had told him in his paper.

Mr. MacBrayne Resumes

Mr. MacBrayne then resumed his testimony.

"After the order barring them from the mayor's office, did you talk with Mr. Paradis and Mr. Powers?" asked Mr. Harvey.

"We had a conversation in the mayor's office the following morning. Mr. Paradis said: 'We came in to see if there is any news today.' The mayor replied negatively. Mr. Powers then said: 'Is it true that you have ordered us out?' The mayor said: 'Yes, but I have thought better of it this morning.'"

Mr. MacBrayne was asked if he could recall any typewritten news given by the mayor or himself to the plaintiffs.

The witness replied that he recalled several, one in particular, relative to free telephones, that some heads of departments had telephones who didn't need them, while others had none and needed them.

Mr. MacBrayne also recalled a story about the municipal register which was given to the plaintiffs in typewritten form; and he also recalled a story on the tax rate. Mr. MacBrayne related the contents of the typewritten notes in detail.

Considerable discussion followed over the admission of an article published relative to the tax rate in which misrepresentation was charged.

The court stated that the article was not a misrepresentation. Neither the mayor nor the reporter knew what the tax rate would be and each expressed an opinion. His Honor illustrated by saying that the secretary might have told the reporter that the mayor expected to be elected next year. It was only his opinion and the reporter would not be misrepresenting him if he expressed a different opinion.

"How long did the police board hearing last?" asked Mr. Harvey.

"A month and a half."

"What was the occupation of the witnesses?"

Mr. Bent objected to the question but it was admitted and an exception saved.

Mr. MacBrayne said: "There were 10 or 12 hotel keepers, some former liquor dealers, five or eight reporters, and five or six who didn't have any occupation at all. All appeared in favor of the police commissioners."

Mr. MacBrayne Cross-Examined

"Were there any blackmailing experts there?" asked Mr. Bent.

"Yes there was one."

"Who was he?"

Mr. Harvey objected and the question was not pressed.

"Did General Jophanus Whitney, Arnold Scott, Charles J. Wier, James P. Ramsey, and ex-Mayor Hayes testify for the police commissioners?"

"Yes."

Mr. MacBrayne was asked the occupation of these men and gave it.

"During these hearings you were correspondent for the Boston Herald?"

"I was."

"When did you sever your connection with the Boston Herald?"

"About a month after the board was restored."

"When did you cease to be private secretary?"

"When I was appointed police commissioner."

"When did you resign as police commissioner?"

"In August."

"During Mr. Brown's campaign he was opposed to the police board?"

"He was opposed to their methods?"

"Did you write his inaugural address?"

"At his dictation."

Mr. Bent took up the inaugural of the ex-mayor and wanted to read his reference to the police board. Mr. Harvey objected.

Mr. Bent stated that from the other side it would seem as if Mayor Brown were in the case instead of the defendant, whose name has not been mentioned since the case started, and he wanted to reply to some of it. He explained that his reference would bear on the statement that a license was offered as he would show that at the time the offer was made the mayor intended to remove the commissioners before the first of May and appoint a new board which he could control.

Mr. Bent was permitted to read from the inaugural.

Mr. Bent then read extracts from the inaugural, after which a recess was declared.

"When did the investigation of the police board records begin?" asked Mr. Bent.

"The investigation of several departments, including the police department, began the first day he was in office."

"Who did the mayor appoint in place of the commissioners he removed?"

"He appointed Simon B. Harris, chairman, myself the second member, and John J. Burns."

"How did you sever your connection with the office?"

"I resigned."

"Did you send a letter of resignation?"

"Mr. Harris did."

"Didn't you sign it?"

"I did."

"Then it was your letter?"

"Yes, but he wrote it."

"Did you go to the newspapers with it?"

"Mr. Harris and I went to the newspapers with it."

The letter as printed in the papers was identified by Mr. MacBrayne.

Mr. Bent offered it in evidence.

Mr. Harvey objected, remarking: "Mr. MacBrayne is not on trial."

"You put Mayor Brown on trial here and I'm going to put MacBrayne on," retorted Mr. Bent.

The jury was excused while Messrs. Bent and Harvey argued on the admissibility of the letter of resignation.

The letter of resignation was ruled out and an exception saved the plaintiff.

Continuing the cross-examination Mr. Bent asked:

"Did the mayor ever tell you to take charge of the old board?"

"He did not."

"Do you know who wrote any of these articles in Mr. Long's paper?"

"I do not."

"Did you give them any information?"

"I did not."

"What did Mr. Powers say to you?"

"He said: 'Wrestling licenses don't appeal to me. How about a liquor license for me?'"

"What did Mr. Brown say to them?"

"He said he had been misquoted in an article in both papers the day before."

"What did they say?"

"I think Mr. Paradis said laughingly: 'We have to obey orders.' Mr. Powers made some laughing remark to that effect."

Mr. Brown Testifies

George H. Brown was the next witness and in response to Mr. Harvey's question said:

"Mr. Powers and Mr. Paradis came into my office one day and I called their attention to the fact that they were misrepresenting me in reports. I told them that they were quoting me directly opposite to what I said. I said: 'You are trying to make me out ridiculous and are trying to make me out an ignoramus.' Paradis said: 'There's one thing I'm with you on. I hope you fire Moffatt. I said that it was probably because he was running fake wrestling matches. Then Mr. Powers said: 'Wrestling licenses don't appeal to me; how about a liquor license?' Mr. MacBrayne said smilingly: 'If you got a license you should get a third partner who will run the business while you are off on a bat together.'"

"After the hearing did you issue an order to exclude them from your office?"

"I did, immediately after that day's hearing."

"When did you see them again?"

"They came into my office and I told them that no man was safe while they were around."

Witness then explained his method of giving out news. The witness insisted on getting away from the direct answer until the court said: "Can't you answer the questions directly?"

The witness said that after the hearing he gave out all information typewritten.

Mr. Harvey attempted to produce police court records of certain hotel-keepers who testified in the police

A BOLD STEP

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has published broad-cast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines.

Thus Dr. Pierce has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too he has removed his medicines from among secret nostrums of doubtful merits and placed them in a class all by themselves by making them remedies OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same.

From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents and that they are made from native, medicinal roots of great value; also that some of the most valuable ingredients contained in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for weak, nervous, overworked, "run-down," nervous and debilitated women, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their squaws. In fact, one of the most valuable medicinal plants entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was known to the Indians as "Squaw-Weed." Our knowledge of the uses of not a few of our most valuable native, medicinal plants was gained from the Indians.

As made up by improved and exact processes, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficient remedy for regulating all the womanly functions, correcting displacements, as prolapsus, anteversion and retroversion, overcoming painful periods, toning up the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

board hearing, but Mr. Bent objected on the ground that in all cases appeals had been taken and never tried.

The court allowed the records to go to Mr. Brown upon hearing each record read said that he was the same man who testified in the case.

"How many witnesses were examined before you?"

"I couldn't tell."

"Have you had any talk with the plaintiffs relative to their hostility to you?"

"I have talked to Mr. Paradis."

"What did he say?"

"He always smiled."

Cross-examined:

"Who generally wrote your letters and communications?"

"Always from dictation?"

"Generally."

"You never gave out any original manuscripts to the newspapers?"

"No."

Edward W. Trull

Assistant Clerk Trull of the police court went on the stand with a number of records of convictions which he identified. The records were those of the hotelkeepers convicted in the police court but whose cases were all appealed. Some of the records went back to 1899 and others were in 1907 and 1908.

Mr. Bent asked the witness if all the men were not hotelkeepers.

"I can't say officially."

"Can't you say as a witness?"

"No; I don't know some of them."

The names were then read off to Mr. Trull.

"With the exception of one of them, all went by appeal to superior court?"

"Yes."

"Do you know what became of them?"

"No, sir."

"This closed the defendant's case."

Major Bent then read extracts from the defendant's paper relative to the two plaintiffs.

Noon recess.

AFTERNOON SESSION

At the opening of the afternoon session Mr. Paradis took the stand in rebuttal. He stated that he did not get into the mayor's office on the day following the order to eject him and the conversation testified to by Witness Brown never took place.

In regard to the testimony that Mr. MacBrayne told them if they got a license it would be necessary to have a third man, Mr. Paradis stated positively that no such remarks were made. He stated that he never said that he had to obey orders when asked why he misrepresented the mayor. He denied that the mayor accused him of running fake wrestling matches.

Mr. Paradis stated that he never made an alteration in any document given him by the mayor or MacBrayne.

In newspaper offices all such copy goes to the editor without alteration.

Mr. Powers took the stand again and denied that the conversation testified to by the mayor ever took place. He further denied that the conversation relative to putting the license in another man's name ever took place.

Mr. Powers also stated that he gave all copy given him by anyone to the editor.

THE ARGUMENTS

The arguments opened at 2:15 o'clock.

Mr. Harvey spoke for the defense and dwelt at considerable length upon the importance of the interview in the mayor's office, stating that if it is found that the plaintiffs magnified and distorted the incident the criticism of them in the defendant's paper was not libelous.

Mr. Harvey argued emphatically that six articles out of the eight did not refer to the plaintiffs and the defendant did not intend that they should. They referred, he said, to the witnesses in the hearing who had police court records and not to the plaintiffs. In the two articles in which the names of the plaintiffs appear the truth was stated, he said.

As far as the plaintiffs being damaged is concerned he claimed that the plaintiffs had damaged themselves more than the articles damaged them by coming into court and claiming that the articles referred to them. They were not damaged in fact. Mr. Powers received an increase of pay after the publication of these articles.

Mr. Harvey's argument took an hour and he was followed by Major Bent for the plaintiffs.

In opening Mr. Bent stated that counsel for the other side had made the case a trial of Mr. Brown. He had put on only Mr. Brown and his secretary. Neither the defendant nor his reporters went on the stand and the only witness of the defense were Brown and MacBrayne. Counsel for the other side had tried to introduce politics into the matter and every question asked Mr. Brown led to a campaign speech on the part of Brown. The fact that the Courier-Citizen and The Sun were out against Brown has absolutely nothing to do with this case. The papers and the reporters had a perfect right to be opposed to Brown's candidacy. Mr. Bent then took up the evidence.

Mr. Bent reviewed each article and commenting on the article which said that the plaintiffs were volunteer witnesses at the hearing stated that all witnesses were volunteer witnesses, as no witnesses could be formally summoned to such a hearing.

Mr. Bent called attention to the fact that the defendant, although owner of a public newspaper stated under oath that he didn't know how seven out of the eight articles got into his paper and he didn't take the stand so that the other side could ask him a few questions. Under the law, however, it makes no difference how the articles got into the paper or who wrote them, if they are there and they are libelous, the proprietor is liable.

In this paper, he continued, there is a general attempt to malign and vilify these two plaintiffs. This whole series of articles referred to Paradis and Powers.

Mr. Bent concluded his argument at 4 o'clock, referring in closing to the difference between the testimony of Mayor Brown and Secretary MacBrayne.

Court adjourned at 4:10 and the charge will be made tomorrow morning.

AIRSHIP WRECKED

Moissant Had a Narrow Escape

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The headlessness of a moment came near being the death yesterday of John B. Moissant, the American aviator who first flew with a passenger across the channel from Paris to London, while he was trying out his new Blériot monoplane at Belmont park.

Moissant had just made two brilliant turns of the mile and a quarter track when he took his spill. A puff of wind struck the tail of his monoplane and swung it to one side. The aviator quickly righted himself and then, in over-confidence, lifted his feet from the rudder to tinker with the oil feed to his motor.

Instantly the monoplane swooped sideways like a bird winged by the fowler, dove 125 feet to the ground, struck on its right wing and turned completely over. Nobody who saw the fall thought for a moment that Moissant would ever be taken out of the wreck alive, but as it happened, the uninjured left wing broke his fall and he slid easily from his seat. The machine was wrecked beyond repair.

BOY WAS LOST

para and transmit to the general court in print, on or before the second Wednesday in January, nineteen hundred and eleven, a draft of a bill to provide for the inspection of milk at the point of production and during subsequent transportation and holding until the delivery to the consumer, and the inspection and examination of cows and of the premises on which they are kept. The bill shall contain such amendments to existing law as will remove any conflicting provisions and unnecessary duplication of inspection, and the bill shall also contain provisions which will provide for such a thorough and complete inspection of milk as will ensure its cleanliness, purity and fitness for food. The hearing was scheduled for one o'clock but it was after 1.30 o'clock before it was called to order. Dr. Pearson was absent, and when Chairman Gardner called to order there were about 25 persons, including two women, present. Among those present were Dr. G. Forrest Martin, chairman of the board of health; Agent Fred A. Bates of the same board; Milk Inspector Melvin Maslow and Fisher H. Pearson of this city, and DeLoey Curkum of Billerica. After Chairman Gardner had read the resolution and explained the purpose of the hearing Fisher H. Pearson arose and stated that he appeared for himself as a consumer and a student of the milk problem for ten years. He said he was given to understand that the commission was not to consider the standard of the milk. He felt that there should be no chemical standard but instead there should be a standard of purity and wholesomeness. Mr. Pearson said that milk was nothing more or less than a by-product, especially in this city, where the most of the milk delivered is produced by farmers with few cows. He said the same rules for inspection could not be applied to the small producer as to the big producer. The speaker advocated two qualities of milk, one for medical use and the other for ordinary use. The former quality is to be of a very high standard while the other could be lower. He also said that the state board of health should inspect the milk. He added that some legislation should be passed which would place the state board of health and national department of agriculture to co-operate, intimating that there is now or at least was friction between the two bodies. In conclusion Mr. Pearson advised the commission in drawing up the bill to be presented to the legislature, not to prosecute the small producer or it will mean his ruin. He advised giving the small producer a reasonable show. Leonard W. Wheeler, of Westford, was the next speaker. He said that he was a producer and sold his milk to D. Whiting & Sons, of Boston. He described his farm, etc., and said he objected to the inspection of milk and premises as at the present time, claiming that the inspector calls at his place when he is absent and does not think it fair. He spoke of the score card system and said that there is a laxity in the marking, stating that he had received three different markings while the condition of affairs had not changed and when he interviewed the inspector relative to the fluctuation the inspector said, "Oh, that doesn't amount to anything." He said he uses town water, which is considered to be a laxity in the state, and just because he has a well on the premises which he does not use, especially for cleaning the milk utensils, the inspector took a sample of the well water and but for the fact that he caught the inspector doing so he might have lost his business. Mr. Wheeler said that those who want certified milk should create a market for it, but that the general public is more interested in cheap milk. He caused quite a stir when he said that the people want cheap milk and that they should have a chance to get it. He cited instances which indicated that there is antagonism among the producer, consumer and inspector and felt that instead there should be harmony.

BARSTOW Bay State Ranges

You will find them to be dependable ranges, which always bake uniformly; you will find in them features no other ranges possess.

The End Gas oven is especially useful. It has the baking compartment and in the upper part of it is located the Broiler attachment. This places the broiling rack at a very convenient height to avoid stooping. Above the oven is the 3-burner Gas End Shelf that is always ready for boiling, broiling and frying. These attachments can all be used at the same time as the coal fire, thus doubling the capacity of your range. The High Gas Oven can also be used on this style.

New Swing Wire Top—Makes entire surface of fire available for broiling or roasting. Also enables an even and easy distribution of coal or the use of large chunks of wood. No other range has this feature.

Simplicity Dampers—Works with a touch, almost automatic. Cannot be burned out or affected by heat.

Three Styles of Grates: Adapted to one style of frame. Grate and frame freely drawn out through the fire door opening for cleaning or renewing.

Patented Extension Tea Shelves—Found only on our ranges—give ample space for large dishes.

An Aluminum Plated Oven Rack—Adjustable at two heights. A simple locking device keeps this rack in rigid position when pulled all the way out.

A Model Heat Indicator—Of scientific construction and a twentieth Century Sintering Cover mount free with each range.

INSTANT DEATH

Harry Bedell, an Electrician, Electrocuted

CLAREMONT, N. H., Oct. 20.—Accidentally completing an electric circuit with his hands, Harry Bedell, an electrician, received a current of 2300 volts through the body and was instantly killed here today. Bedell, who was employed by the Claremont Power Co., was working on a transformer at a local machine shop. Fred Maxfield, who attempted to remove the body, was shocked into unconsciousness but was later resuscitated. Bedell was 25 years old. He is survived by a bride of four months.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Irving Bennett and Miss Ethel M. Dresser were married Monday afternoon by Rev. A. St. John Chamber at his residence. Mrs. Ralph H. Moody was matron of honor and Mr. Ralph H. Moody was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will be at home after Dec. 1st at No. 31 Greendale avenue, Lowell.

SURPRISE PARTY

The many friends of Miss Annie O'Loughran, a popular employee of Cook, Taylor & Co.'s store in Merrimack street, gathered Tuesday evening to bid her farewell, as she sails for Ireland in two weeks. She was greatly surprised when presented with a gold watch, a gift from her sister, Mrs. Michael Fagan. The presentation speech was made by Mr. Michael Fagan. A pleasant evening was spent during which light refreshments were served, and all departed at a late hour, wishing Miss O'Loughran a pleasant journey. The party was held at the home of Mrs. Michael Fagan, Elm street.

JUSTICE WHITE

May be Made Head of United States Supreme Court

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Among the candidates for chief justice of the United States supreme court whom President Taft is considering is Associate Justice Douglas White, who was appointed from Louisiana and is a democrat. White is known as one of the most progressive of supreme court justices.

While the president is considering both Justice White and Senator Root, the latter has not given up the idea of appointing Justice Hughes as chief.

None of the supreme court appointments will be made until congress meets in December.

CAPITOL FAVORS WHITE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—During the next two or three weeks the president will give attention to filling the important judicial vacancies now existing.

The people have Justice White, one of the two democratic members of the supreme court, for chief justice is regarded here as having some foundation.

In the minds of many lawyers, Justice White has been regarded for a number of years as the ablest man on that bench. The president thinks very highly of him. Justice White was the president's guest last summer on the Maschower from Beverly to Providence, where the president delivered an address at the dedication of the monument to the pilgrims.

Justice White has been on the bench at Washington for more than 16 years, having been appointed from Louisiana by President Grover Cleveland. At the time of his elevation to the highest court he was United States senator from his native state, having entered the senate in 1891.

Justice White was born in Lafourche, La., on Nov. 3, 1845, and was educated at Mt. St. Mary's, near Emmitsburg, Md., the Jesuit college at New Orleans and also at Georgetown. He is a veteran of the confederate army.

The law had its attraction for him and in 1863 he was admitted to the Louisiana bar, became a state senator in 1874, and an associate justice of the supreme court of Louisiana in 1878.

ANNUAL REUNION

REV. LAWRENCE F. TIGHE, O. M. I.
Pastor

THOMAS WELCH,

Of the Immaculate Conception Parish a Great Success

One of the most successful events ever conducted by the Immaculate Conception parish was the annual reunion held in Associate hall last evening. The hall was crowded to the doors, every seat was occupied and in the gallery and on the main floor hundreds were obliged to stand. Early in the evening the people of the parish began to arrive and when Rev. Fr. Tighe, O. M. I., the pastor, and Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., the general manager, reached the hall, it was already nearly filled. About every family in the parish was represented and many came from other parishes to aid in the reception to Fr. Tighe. The greeting the pastor received was a genuine tribute of love and loyalty, and must have made him hold in higher esteem and regard, than ever before, if such were possible, the people of his native parish. At the conclusion of the reunion Fr. Tighe took occasion to express his gratitude and thanks to the people of the parish for their generous response to the invitation to attend the reunion. He did not speak from the platform but he made it a point to meet and greet about everyone in the audience and give personal expression to his feelings. As stated in yesterday's paper the afternoon was given over to the children and the returns showed that the number of children in attendance was 200 in excess of the number gathered at any similar occasion in the past. And none among this great audience of children enjoyed himself or herself more than the pastor who remained with the little ones throughout the entire afternoon.

The Evening Program
The evening program was a most entertaining one. The hall was very prettily decorated, autumn foliage and leaves being very prominent in this feature. Around the hall tables and booths were arranged with ice cream, cake, loaves and soda water were served and candies dispensed. The trade at the different tables was very brisk and quite a host of money was taken in by the hunting attendants. John Payne who had charge of the entertainment was quite prompt in opening the program. While the orchestra played a lively march, Rev. Fr. Tighe accompanied by Rev. Fr. Sullivan, McQuaid and Fox of the Immaculate late Conception church proceeded to their seats in the front row while the people on the floor and gallery applauded loudly. Later the provincial of the Oblates, Very Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., accompanied by Rev. John P. Flynn, Rev. Fr. McKenna, superior at the Tewksbury Novitiate, Rev. Fr. McDermott and Rev. Fr. Cornell took seats reserved for them. The entertainment was provided by artists from the local theatres and was greatly enjoyed by the large audience.

Ray W. Snow, "The Man About Town," monologist, provided good fun, and he was followed by the Three Russell Brothers singing and dancing. Comedian, Harry Dale, programmed as a "Singing Monologist," was well received, and Muriel Crompton, a variety dancer, pleased immensely. Bobby Jewett and Rastus Brown and Miss Harrison concluded the program.

General dancing was started about 9:30 o'clock and was continued to the midnight hour.

The officers of the affair were:
General committee: Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan, O. M. I., general manager; James F. Gilligan, secretary; Patrick H. Farrell, treasurer.

Former Democratic Leader Passed Away This Morning

DAVID B. HILL

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 20.—David B. Hill, ex-United States senator and former governor of New York, died suddenly at Wolfert's Roost, his country home, at 3.45 o'clock this morning.

About two weeks ago Mr. Hill was seized with a bilious attack while at his law office in this city and although his condition was not considered serious at the time his physician advised him to remain at home for a few days until he recovered. A cold developed and a few days later alarming reports of his condition were circulated. These reports, however, were denied by friends, in fact the senator appeared to be on the road to recovery until last night, when he suffered a sinking spell which resulted in his death.

David Bennett Hill was born in the village of Havana, Schuyler (then Montgomery) county, New York, Aug. 29, 1842. His father, Caleb Hill, was a carpenter. David, who was the youngest of three sons, attended public school and at the age of 17 entered the law office of Col. John I. Lawrence of Havana. In 1863 he went to Elmira and was admitted to the bar the following year. He soon became recognized as one of the leading lawyers of the southern tier. His first ballot was cast as a democrat. He rose rapidly in politics, being chosen city attorney of Elmira, then alderman and then assembly in 1870 and re-elected the following year. At democratic state and national conventions Mr. Hill for many years was a leading figure. In 1876 and 1884 he was a delegate to the national conventions which nominated Tilden and Cleveland respectively. In 1882 he was nominated for lieutenant governor on the same ticket with Grover Cleveland. The ticket was elected.

Following Governor Cleveland's election to the presidency of the United States Mr. Hill became governor, subsequently being elected for two terms. He was governor for seven years. In 1891 Mr. Hill was elected United States senator to serve from March 4, 1891, to March 4, 1897. In 1894 Mr. Hill was once more a candidate of the democratic party for governor, but was defeated by Levi P. Morton, his republican opponent.

Mr. Hill was the candidate of the New York democrats for the nomination for president in 1892, when Grover Cleveland was nominated for that office.

As a lawyer Mr. Hill handled many important cases. In 1904 Mr. Hill was credited with being the political supporter of Alton B. Parker, who was nominated for the presidency by the democratic national convention at Chicago and who was defeated by Theodore Roosevelt. Following that election Mr. Hill announced his permanent retirement from politics and since that time he has devoted himself solely to the practice of his profession. Mr. Hill lived quietly at Wolfert's Roost, a beautiful villa just outside the city.

Little One In Critical Condition

Mamie Vouthabbage, the child who was severely burned at 27 Winter street yesterday morning, is in a very critical condition at the Lowell hospital, and very little hope is entertained for her recovery.

A FINE PAINTING

Of David Rogers. Received By Mayor

An oil painting of David Rogers, who served as a member of the city council in 1856-57 and which was presented to the city by his daughter, Mrs. Mary F. Robertson, of Dorchester, was received yesterday and this morning was hung in the mayor's reception room.

The painting is an excellent one and is in an oval frame. It has been placed on the wall between the paintings of ex-Mayor Elbridge Huntington and ex-Mayor James H. B. Ayer.

Mr. Rogers was well known by the old residents of this city and for a number of years was associated with his father in conducting a stable in Central street where the stable of E. B. Conant & Co. is now located.

The following letter relative to the painting was received by Mayor McLaughlin yesterday:

44 Magnolia Street,
Dorchester, Mass.

Hon. John F. McLaughlin,
Mayor of the City of Lowell,
My Dear Sir:—

The portrait of my father, Mr. David Rogers, will be sent to you by express Tuesday, Oct. 18th. The delay in sending was occasioned by the engagement and illness of the artist who has been putting it in order. I hope it will arrive safely. With kind regards,

Most Sincerely,
Mrs. Mary F. Robertson.

LAST TRIBUTE

PAID BY TOWNSPEOPLE TO MEMORY OF JULIA WARD HOWE

MIDDLETOWN, R. I., Oct. 20.—A little group of the townspeople stood with bowed heads on the platform of the Middletown railroad station to pay their last act of love and respect to Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, the poet and philanthropist, whose death occurred here on Monday. Today the body of the aged writer, enclosed in a snow white casket, was taken from the Howe summer home and placed in a special funeral car attached to the regular train leaving at 9.10 for Boston, where the funeral is to be held this afternoon at the church of the Disciples.

The funeral party included only the immediate members of Mrs. Howe's family, a few servants, the eight pallbearers and Rev. William Safford Jones, pastor of the Channing Memorial Unitarian church of Newport, where Mrs. Howe was a frequent attendant.

PRESENTED PURSE OF MONEY

Mr. Hector Monette, a popular member of the Centralville Social club, was surprised last night by the members of the club, the occasion being on account of his approaching marriage.

President Rosario Lussier, on behalf of the club, presented Mr. Monette a substantial purse of money. Mr. Monette thanked his fellow members in a manner which showed that he appreciated the present, after which a program, including musical and literary numbers, was carried out.

IN POLICE COURT

Several Cases Disposed of by Judge Hadley

Judge Hadley this morning had many cases of domestic troubles before him, and in each case he administered advice and allowed the defendants to go on probation. He also allowed a number of first offenders to their way, with the promise that they would do better in the future.

Charles Dyson was charged with assault and battery upon Ernest J. Smith. He pleaded not guilty and his case upon the testimony of the action of the government, was continued until Oct. 27.

Thomas Graham has been before the court several times, and as this was his second offence within a year the court decided that he should pay a fine of six dollars.

Joseph Stanley appeared before the court upon a third complaint of drunkenness and upon the testimony of the arresting officers he was adjudged guilty and sentenced to three months in jail.

Arthur Levesseur and Albert F. Kealey were each given two months in the Lowell jail for repeated complaints of drunkenness.

Louis P. LeClair was charged with drunkenness and non-support of his wife and children, and upon the request of the government the case was continued until tomorrow morning.
